The Secret Vampire

Ambria Rayne

STORYPDF

Complete English text · US Letter reading edition

Contents

Chapter 1	5
Chapter Two	11
Chapter Three	14
Chapter Four	18
Chapter Five	21
Chapter Six	26
Chapter Seven	28
Chapter Eight	31
Chapter Nine	35
Chapter Ten	39
Chapter Eleven	43
Chapter Twelve	46
Chapter Thirteen	50
Chapter Fourteen	54
Chapter Fifteen	58
Chapter Sixteen	60
Chapter Seventeen	65
Chapter Eighteen	68
Chapter Nineteen	72
Chapter Twenty	77
Chapter Twenty-One	82

Chapter Twenty-Two 85

Chapter Twenty-Three 89

About this edition

This StoryPDF reading edition contains the complete English text, with its original paragraph and section order preserved.

Newly typeset with selectable text, a linked contents section and chapter bookmarks. Copyright rules can differ by country. Corrections and rights enquiries: liuxinglianxue@gmail.com.

Read online: StoryPDF / The Secret Vampire.

Reading edition: 2026-10-29. Typography: Crimson Text (SIL Open Font License).

Chapter 1

~Charlotte's POV~

"Sweetie, Wake Up."Someone said causing me to turn and Groan.

"Come on Charlotte you have school today." My mother said and I groaned

"I'm Up,I'm Up." I said rubbing my eyes and sitting up with a yawn.Yes, I sleep. Just because I am a Vampire doesn't mean I don't sleep.That crap you read in Twilight is mostly all fake. I Looked at the clock to see it's 5;30. I have just enough time to get ready.

I walked into my Bathroom and turned on the Shower. I stripped out of my Purple Silky Pajamas and jump in to the nice Hot water. After about a half an hour I got out of the Shower and wrapped a Purple fluffy towel around me and started blow drying my hair so it went into it's natural waves. When I was dry I went into my room and changed into a Black leather like Pencil Skirt and a Purple Flowy shirt that I tucked in. I added a thick Black Belt, Then I put on a pair of Purple Faux Suede Peep Toe Chain T-Strap Heels.I Finished up my outfit with a some jelwery and make-up which applied of a Spiked Braclet and a Black ovel ring then triangle earings. For my make-up it applied of a little bit of Eyeliner and a little bit of Blush and Light pink sparkly lip gloss. I Looked at my self one more time and made sure my nails looked okay. I seen they were still Blue and not chipped.

I looked at the clock and seen it was 6:38 and rushed down stairs into the kitchen using my Vampire speed. School starts at 7;30 so I had to leave now if I wanted to stop at my locker and see my friend's.

"Hello Mother." I said giving her a kiss on the cheek.

"I warmed up some blood for you the cup is on the counter." My Mother said and I nodded saying Thanks. I quickly finished the cup and put it in the sink.

"Okay I'm Leaving now. Bye Love you. Tell dad I Love him too when he gets up." I said and quickly rushed out of our Palace. I Live in the Vampire world, Maplewood which means I can speed through here and end up into the human world and get to school. Obviously the humans don't know about us so they can't see the Vampire world unless they are a Vampire. I jumped into my Red Ferrari and speeded off. I made it to school by 7 and parked into the third Parking spot by the school, The first one ,is for the "It' Boys and the second one is for the "It' Girls. I once was asked if I wanted to be in the "It" girls group but I turned them down so now we are just friends. They gave me the third parking spot since I am still popular. I am dating one of the "It" Boys Jake. I Got out of my Ferrari and as I grabbed my Black Purse. I noticed their was a different car in the First parking spot but I just shrugged it off.

"Lottie!!" My Best friend Jasmina Squealed as her and my other 2 Best friends came up to me. Jasmina and I did the whole Kiss, Kiss thing. Don't ask.

"Jazzy!!" I squealed back.

"Did You Hear?" Melanie asked me.

"Did I hear what?" I questioned.

"The "It" Boys have been replaced!!" My other Best friend Molly Exclaimed.

"What?" I exclaimed. "How on earth did they get replaced? Thats Impossible."

"It's True Charlotte." Chloe The Head "It" Girl said as she walked up to me with her group.

"How is this Possible? The "It" Boys are the Hottest Guys in our school. Please explained to me who is Hotter?" I Questioned.

"You Haven't seem them yet?" April another "It" Girl asked me while chewing her gum very Loudly.

"Oh You Will totally Understand when you see them. I mean they are like Gods." Jasmine squealed again.

"Whatever I Don't care anymore I'm going to go find Jake. You guys coming?" I asked my friends. Which they replied with 'Yeas' and 'Sures'.

"Bye Chloe." I waved and Walked away.

"How are you friends with them. They walked around chewing their gum so loud and wear 6-inch heels which are so annoying to hear in the hall. Have I mentioned how they dress!" Jasmine said when they were out of hearing and we walked into the school.

"I know you hate them but they are always Nice to me so I have no reason to be mean to them." I said with a shrug.

"Oh, by the way C you look Hot." Melanie said with a smile.

"Thanks!!" I said returning a smile. "Oh, there's Jake!! Do I look Okay?" I asked my group.

"Gorgeous as Always!!" Ashlyn said.

"Okay, i'll talk to you guys later. see you in first Period Jazz." I said and I walked over to Jake.

"Hey Babe." He said and gave me a quick kiss.

"How are you guys doing?" I asked.

"Honestly I want to beat the Shit out of these guys when I meet them." Jake growled.

"Aw I Know Babe. It's okay though because I doubt they're hot."I said and he nodded.

"This is why your My Girl." Jake said putting his arm around me.

"This is Such an Embarrassment." Mason said frowning while shaking his head.

"Don't worry eventually all the Girls will realize they aren't Hot and you will get your Parking Spot back and your table and Number 1 in the school." I said with a sad smile.

"We Lost our table too!!" Caleb said then punched a locker.

"Don't worry boys you can sit with the Nerds now." Chloe said while she was walking by.

"I Never realized it till today that Chloe is such a B*tch." Jake said causing me to giggle.

"Well I Have to go to class the Bell is about to ring." I said and Jake nodded giving me a peck on the lips and I walked to English.

"Hey C. How was Jake?" Jasmine asked when I sat next to her.

"Him and his whole group are furious." I said with a sigh.

"Aww I feel bad for them. I hear Chloe talking about them earlier and basically their plan is to treat them like the Nerds now that they aren't number 1 in the school." Jasmine said shaking her head in disgust.

"So if these guys are so Perfect and like God's How come I haven't seen or heard of them?" I questioned as the bell rang and all the girls in the class ran back to their seats and put away their mirrors they had out.

"I guess the Leader of the "It" Boys is in this class. His name is-" Jasmine started telling me but was cut off as Mrs. Smith started talking.

"Class We have a New Student today. His Name is Drew Parker." Mrs. Smith said.

"When is he going to be here?" A Girl asked.

"He Should be here -" Mrs. Smith started saying but stopped talking as someone walked in.

"Now." She finished. " Class this is Drew Parker and I want you to all be nice and welcome him. Drew you can go sit in the Empty seat by Charlotte. Charlotte raise your hand." Mrs. Smith said which caused me to put my phone away from under my desk.

"Raise your hand Lottie." Jasmine whispered and I Put my hand up.

"That will be your seat for the rest of the Year Drew." Mrs. Smith said as she started with her lesson. While Drew was walking to the seat next to me I took the time to check him out. He had Dirty Blond hair that was kind of up in a quif and he was wearing a pair of Black Jeans and he had on white and Blue button up shirt and he had A fake tan but it wasn't so fake to where he looked orange. He caught me staring and gave me a Smirk causing me to roll my eyes and look at the teacher. Beside me I could see Jasmine freaking out.

"Oh my gosh!! You are so lucky." Jasmine whispered so only I could hear.

"No I'm not he is obviously a player and you may have forgotten but I'm dating Jake." I whispered back to Jasmine.

"Miss. Faye and Miss.Kendall are you done talking or can we move on." Mrs. Smith asked with a Stern look.

"Sorry." Jasmine and I said together and she went back to teaching.

"Talking about me Babe." Drew whispered making his minty breath go across my face.

"Um No Arrogant much?" I said rolling my eyes.

"No. You sure you weren't talking about me." He said smirking. I Ignored him for the rest of class and just payed attention to the lesson that I Have already learned about 100 times.

"Miss. Faye can you come here for a minute and you to Mr. Parker." Mrs. Smith said as the Bell rang and Jasmine told me she would meet me at Lunch and I nodded.

"Yes Mrs. Smith." I said as I walked over to her desk.

"Since I see you and Drew were getting along so well back there why don't you show him around the school?" Mrs. Smith said leaving no room for disagreement so I just said sure with a fake smile. As I walked out of the Class room with Drew Smirking at me. I seriously wish I could just smack it right off his face.

"You don't seriously need me to show you around do you." I Said Glaring at him.

"Why not I didn't do anything to you." Drew said sweetly as the rest of his group joined him. My Phone started ringing and I see it was my mother.

"Hold that thought."I said as I answered my phone.

"Hello." I said into the phone.

"Sweetie Your father and I have just been informed that there are other kids that live in our world that are going to your school so Please be careful." My Mother said with fear in her voice.

"Don't worry Mother we have nothing to worry about remember." I said.

"I Know but-"

" I have to go but don't worry everything will be fine." I said trying to end the call as Drew and his group were look suspiciously at me.

"Fine Goodbye But Don't Cut me off again." My Mother said in her Queen Voice.

"Yes Mother and Goodbye." I said and Hung up. I rolled my eyes as I Looked back over to the "It' boys.

"Now to answer what you previously said Yes You have. You haven't even been here for a whole day and you are already annoying me. Why don't you run off and go talk to Chloe and her Group." I hissed. I immediately noticed what I Did and straightened up hoping he didn't notice anything.

"Who is Chloe?" A Guy with Light Brown hair asked from Drew's Group.

"Oh My Gosh and You are suppose to be the new "It" Boys." I said as I Put quotes around the word It.

"You Know it's okay babe I already know you want me." Drew said putting his arm on my shoulder which was cold causing me to gasp.

"Jesus!! You are freezing." I said Shrugging his arm off. But also because it scared me with the tingles I felt when his arm was their.

"Babe Please I Know you obviously think I'm the opposite. I'm Hot." Drew said with a smirk.

"Yea Your Totally -" I was cut off on my sarcastic remark by yelling.

"Drew!!" Chloe Screeched as she ran over to him and put her arms around his arms. I held back a laugh as Drew was giving her a "What The Hell" Look.

"Oh Hey Charlotte!! I see you finally met the new "It" Boys!!" Chloe said Giggling.

"Yea they are exactly what you said." I said sarcastically but she couldn't tell because she responded saying,

"I Know Right!!" and giggled.

"Who are you." Drew said peeling her arm off of him and Chloe gasped.

"Umm I Am Chloe. I am the Chloe Taylor. I'm positive you have heard about me. I am the head "It" Girl and your new girlfriend.." Chloe said with a "Are You Stupid Look" This time I Laughed but I covered it with a Cough as Drew sent me a Glare.

"Um No I'm not your Boyfriend. I Don't care if your the head "It" Girl and Also I haven't heard of you until Charlotte mention you."He said.

"Ooh!! That hilarious Drew!! And C You Mention me!! How Sweet now don't you have to be with your group of friends?" Chloes asked obviously trying to get rid of me.

"Yea I actually do have to leave a meet up with my friends but like I said Drew Chloe would most likely Love to Show you around more then I do." I said and walked away.

"Oh My Gosh you were talking to Drew Parker!! The Head "It" Boy!!"Ashlyn said as I walked over to her locker which was not the far away from where I was just standing.

"Yea He isn't as Great as everyone makes him seem." I said as we started walking to Biology.

Chapter Two

After 2 more Classes that I had with Ashlyn I was Finally time for Lunch. I walked into the lunch room the usual table where Jasmine,Ashlyn,Melanie and Molly were all waiting for me.

"There you are!!" Jasmine Exclaimed as I sat next to her.

"Here I Am!!" I said smiling.

"I wanna know every single detail about what you and Drew talked about earlier!!" She exclaimed excitingly.

"I basically don't like him he is Cocky and won't leave me alone and take a hint." I said shrugging.

"Aww thats boring." Melanie said with pout causing us to all laugh.

"We are gonna go up and get some food you want any?" Jasmine asked even though she already knew the answer.

"Nope. I'm not Hungry." I said and they nodded and started walking up to the lunch Line. I was really Craving Blood today. Worse then ususl so this was really horrible to sit here with all these humans around me. None of the girls knew I was a Vampire they just think I don't like the Lunches food.

"Hey Charlie." Someone said sitting next to me and I Groaned when I seen it was Drew.

"It's Charlotte. Charlie is a boys name." I Said bluntly.

"Aww I Like the name Charlie so i'm gonna Call You Charlie. Charlie." Drew said smirking.

"You know my Boyfriend and his friends and my friends will be here any minute." I said suggesting he leaves.

"Oh Great it would be lovely to meet your Friends and your soon to be Ex." Drew's smirk got even wider if thats even possible. Someone tapped Drew on the shoulder so he turned around to be punched in the face and I gaped when I seen Jake was the one who punched him.

"Jake!! What the Hell!?! Why did you punch him?" I asked.

"This Douche has been flirting with you." Jake said seeming furious.

"He hasn't been flirting!!" I said as I Looked at Drew to see if he was okay and I noticed he looked really mad and he was hissing. It didn't even look like he got punched though.

"Drew I'm So Sorry!! He thought you were flirting with me."I said and he just ignored me and Punched Jake really hard in the face. I heard a Crack and I gasped as Blood came out of Jake's Nose. As soon as I smelt the blood I Tried holding my breath so I wouldn't expose my self and I stood up and was about to walk over to Jake but him and Drew got into a fight and it seems like Drew was winning.

"Guys Stop!!" I yelled trying to pull Drew off But i couldn't Do it even with my Vampire Strength.

"Hey Blondie!!Caleb!! Come Help Me!!" I said as I yelled for help from someone from both Groups. But as soon as Drew was pulled off of Jake. Jake got up and started punching Drew. I tried to pull them apart but only got punched by Jake. It didn't hurt much since I have been through much worse but then I heard a Crack and Blood started coming out of Drew's nose this time. When I stopped holding my breath I immeaditley breathed in the smell of Jake's Blood as it was still coming out of his nose but I smelt Drew's Blood too causing me to gasp a little. I was suppose to have that spell on me so Blood wouldn't affect me that much.I Don't know why I want to attack Drew right now so much. I froze as both groups the "It" Boys Group tried Holding Drew back and The Ex "It" Boys group tried holding Jake back. Everyone who has gathered around yelling fight said aww when they stopped and started to walk away.

"Hey are you okay?" Jasmine said running over to me looking at my face which Im positive didn't even look scratched or bruised.

"I'm fine." I said glaring at Jake and Drew.

"First off Your an Idiot. Just because someone flirts with me doesn't mean you should punch them and You" I said no pointing at Drew. "Need to stop being an Ass and leave me alone." I snapped as I grab Jasmines arm and pulled her away from both of the guys.

"C are you sure your okay?" Jasmine asked worried as we walked tot the rest of the group.

"Im fine. Where were you guys when that huge fight happened?"I asked the group as I opened my locker and stuffing my books in there.

"There was a Fight?"Molly asked now intrested in the coversation. I swear I wonder why she isn't with the "It" Girls with how she acts. She has never went a day with out looking in the Mirror. It's impossible for her.

"Yea one of the Ex "It"Boys and one of the New "It" Boys got in a fight. Oh my gosh it was so Hot!!" Jasmine squealed causing me to roll my eyes."Jake and Drew looked so hot punching each other." She sighed.

"Jake got in a fight with Drew?!?" Ashlyn asked surprised.

"Yea apparently Drew Has been flirting with me." I said putting air quotes around Flirting.

"Well isn't he?" Ashlyn asked now confused.

"No!! I exclaim slamming my locker closed as I make my way to the front school doors. We still had 10 more minutes till our last class of the day. I smiled when I noticed it was still cloudy.

"You know him calling you babe and stuff is flirting Lottie."Jasmine said shaking her head sighing.

"No its called him being arrogant and annoying." I said as I sat on the roof of my car.

"Seriously C with this nice of a Car you must be loaded. Are we ever gonna see your House?" Molly asked changing the subject.

"Sorry you guys cant. My mother and Father are never home and are out on buisness trips. They always tell me No friends over because they don't want me to throw a party." I lsaid lying easily. I have said this lie over a million times so it just comes out smoothly.

"So can't you like not tell them anyone was over."Molly said not taking No as an Answer.

"That would be rude and disrespectful to my parents." I said frowning that she would want me to do that.

"Molly!! You know Charlotte is Loyal to her parents so shut up."Jasmine said giving Molly a glare. I gave her a Thankful smile and started heading back inside.

"Well off to Math. Bye. See you in a little bit." I said waving at Jasmine, Molly and Melanie as Ashlyn and I headed off to class.

Chapter Three

I watched as the leaves fall and hit the ground. Its fall and its my favorite time of the year because theirs barley any sun. Now this isn't twilight. I don't sparkle every time I go in the sun and I don't burn to ash and die either. It just simply hurts my eyes and it makes me a little weaker then I usually am. The bell rang signaling the end of Class. I smiled as I can finally go home and get a snack. I walked quickly and shoved my math book in my locker and started heading to my car saying goodbye to th girls.

"Hello." I said sitting on my car.

"Don't you ever worry your gonna scratch that Beauty" Jake said walking up to me. He has a black and Blue eye and his nose had a cast on it. His left cheek didn't look any better. I frowned still upset at him for punching me even though it was on accident.

"Listen Lottie. I didn't mean to punch you. I'm very sorry for that but I punch Drew because he has not only stole my spot in lunch but also in popularity. I am just like that pathetic nerd Wilden when it comes to popularity." Jake said looking disgusted over at Wilden who was picking his nose. I mentally gagged.

"I Know your upset but you cant just punch him."I said shaking my head disapprovingly.

"Well I got to go babe I have dinner with the parents. See you tomorrow." Jake said pecking me on lips and going to look for his car.

"Lottie Babe. So nice to see you." Chloe said walking up to me pulling me into a hug.

"Hey Chloe." I said politely.

"So now that you know Drew, Alexith, Keith and Jason. Which one are you dumping Jake for?" She asked waiting for some gossip she can tell the school about.

"None." I said bluntly causing her to gasp.

"C you have to be joking!!" Chloe said with a look of horror on her face.

"Chloe you may have dumped the Ex lead "It" boy Brad but I am not gonna dump Jake for one of those stupid "It" boys." I said annoyed.

"That's funny Charlotte but you don't really have a choice." Chloe said putting more lip stick on.

"What do you mean I don't have a choice? Of Course I have a Choice!!" I said annoyed.

"Well you have the third parking spot because one you are almost as Pretty as me and two because you were dating the second hottest "It" boy but now that he isn't one of the "It" Boys you have to dump him or else you will drop your popularity but 90% and you will then be known as a outsider." Chloe said shuddering at the thought.

"I don't need this parking spot Chloe. I Like Jake and I wouldn't give him up for some stupid parking spot or Popularity."I snapped at Chloe.

"Of Course you will C. I mean look at Jake now. As we speak he is making out with your wannabe friend Molly in the back seat of his car." Chloe said shrugging like it was nothing. I Looked where Jake's car was parked and I notice two familiar blonde's in the back seat kissing like the world was ending.

"How long have you known about this."I said now loosing my anger.

"Not long. I think this started about 3 weeks to a month ago." Chloe said shrugging.

"Not that long ago?!? That is a long time!! You know we have been dating for like 5 months now!!" I Shriek causing Chloe to giggle.

"Oh get over him C. He wasn't worth it. I mean unless you would like to ignore the fact he is making out with your best friend in his back seat and continue dating him then loose your Parking spot, Table and Popularity then go ahead." April said rolling her eyes.

"Do I have to date a "It" Boy?" I asked Chloe.

"Nope but you will eventually if you want to at least keep your parking spot." Chloe said smacking her lips together."Oh speaking of the "It" Boys here they come!! Don't worry Lottie you look fine." Chloe said reassuringly as if I actually cared.

"Hey Babe's" Drew said smirking as he leaned against my car.

"Back away from the car." I said snapping at Drew.

"Nah I'm good Babe but anyways what are you lovely girls talking about?" He said not moving.

"Oh just talking about Hot you look in your Leather Jacket." Chloe said. Well more like purred causing me to roll my eyes. You may wonder why I am friend with Chloe if she annoys me so much. Well lets say if you aren't in good terms with her you end up a Loser who gets picked on and get crap like Dead fish in your locker.

"Oh were you now." Drew said casually putting his arm on my shoulder causing me to gasp and I felt tingling go down my arms that he touched.

~Drew's POV~

When I put my arm on Charlotte she let out small gasp and I immediately felt Tingling in my arm that was over her shoulder. I wanted to be closer but I knew I would freak her out if I did pull her closer to me. I knew when I felt that spark She was my Soul mate. Yes after living 489 Years you would think I would of found my soul mate by now but no I haven't. Great this is really bad. She is only a Human. How do I explain to her for me being so Close to her and possessive with out saying 'Hey Charlie I'm a Vampire and your my soul mate.' . I thought to myself and mentally groaned.

"Hey You wanna go somewhere and have a little fun." Chloe asked me trailing her fingers up my chest.

"Sure lets go." I said taking my arm off of Charolotte's shoulder but as soon as I did my body craved for her once again. I was lost in my thoughts for a moment but then quickly shook my head clearing any dirty thoughts I had.

"Bye Charlie See ya later." I said winking at her as I walked away with Chloe trying to get my thoughts of Charlie out of my head even though I knew it was impossible.

~Charlotte's POV~

When Drew left I instantly felt Lonely. I decided to take out my Iphone and text Jake telling him its over. I wasn't going to face him and tell him. He didn't deserve it for cheating on me with my best friend. I quickly texted him and got in the car and headed home.

"Mother, Father I'm Home."I announced as a maid rushed over to me to take my bag

"Welcome Home Princess Charlotte." One of the maids Rose said bowing

"Rose how many times did I tell you to not call me Princess Charlotte just call me Lottie and you don't need to bow." I said giving her a disapproving look.

"I'm Sorry Princess but it's how the King and Queen told me to address you." Rose said giving me a sad look and I nodded.

"Where is my parents?" I asked walking into the kitchen.

"They are in their study Princess." Rose said and I nodded.

"Thank You. You are dismissed Rose." I said and she quickly walked off saying Thank you.

"Charlotte Dear How was school." My Mother asked looking up from her papers.

"Great but Mother I think I met my Soul mate. But he is human."I said frowning and my mother gasped.

"That's Great Sweetie!!" My Mother Exclaimed giving me ahug.

"A Human You Say?" My father questioned with obvious distaste.

"Yes Father but I do not know for sure. All I know is when he touched me I felt tingles and when he walked away I instantly felt lonely and still do."I said with a small frown.

"Oh Sweetie you definitely found your Soul Mate!!" My mother said happily.

"Elizabeth!! Her mate is a Human!! A filthy creature." My father said with disgust.

"Oh Shush. Be proud you daughter found her Soul mate. We can worry about him being human some other time."My mother said leaving no room for disagreement.

"Yes Dear."He said and gave me a Hug."Congratulations on finding the one you will spend eternity with." My father said releasing me.

"Thank You Father for you Support. But I really need a snack so I am going out" I said and they nodded going back to wrok as I changed and left for a club to find myself a snack.

Chapter Four

The next morning I woke up by Rose shaking me.

"Oh Princess!! Your running very late!!" She exclaimed as she handed me a pile of clothes and rushed out. I checked the clock 7:05. I changed into the pair of Skinny jeans, Pink sandals and the off the shoulder Love Pink top then I quickly straightened my hair sticking in a pair of Pink Rosé earrings then used my vampire speed running down the stairs.

"Charlotte wait!!" My mother yelled as I was about to go out the door.

"Yes Mother." I sighed.

"If you don't want to drain that boy dry I suggest you take the bottle of warmed up blood with you." My Mother said and I nodded giving her a kiss on the cheek.

"Thanks Mum." I smiled rushing out while drinking the bottle. I got in my red Ferrari and rushed off to school. I was surprised to find class hasn't started yet an it's already 7:35. I gagged as I had a sip of water to make sure my teeth weren't red then put the bottle on the ground in that back then got out of my car and Jasmina quickly ran over to me.

"You broke up with Jake!" She yelled so basically half the parking lot can here.

"Yea so?" I said not really caring.

"So what happened?" The rest of the girls said as they walked over.

"Why don't you just ask Molly?" I said with a raised eyebrow.

"Why would you ask me?" She said nervously.

"Well girls Jake has been cheating on me for a while now with Molly." I said with a glare and The girls gasped.

"Why don't you go run off with Jake now." I smirked and she just rolled her eyes and walked away with a whatever. I heard clapping at looked to see Drew leaning against his car smirking while clapping his hands.

"I must say that was kind of entertaining." He smirked.

"Drew, what do you want?"I asked annoyed and Jasmina smacked my arm and whispered,

"Hun your talking to the head of the " It" Boys be nice." She scolded and I just rolled my eyes.

"Oh nothing I was just waiting for my favorite Babe." He smirked causing Ashlyn, Melanie and Jasmina to all not so quietly squeal.

"What's that C? You want to walk with him? Oh go right ahead we don't mind. See you at Lunch!!" Jasmina said as she pushed me towards him and ran of with the other girls following behind them. I glared at them till they were out of sight.

"You look Hot when your Mad Charlie."Drew whispered his Breathe fanning on my shoulder. I mentally groaned. Only if he was vampire and he could bi- No Charlotte do not think like that who cares if he is your soul mate. I pushed him back and glared.

"Where is the rest of your Followers?" I asked.

"Why?" He hissed and I raised my eyebrows in surprise.

"Just wondering Jeez. How is Chloe doing?" I asked and he cleared his throat.

"Who know's she left after I told her she wasn't my girlfriend for the millionth time." He shrugged.

"You do know you two are suppose to date since you two are both the hottest in the school." I said and he smirked.

"I knew you thought I was hot." He said and I didn't even bother to deny it because it was true. But the thought of him and Chloe dating made me want to drain her dry then rip her head off.

"Hey you okay? You look like you want to kill someone." Drew said touching my arm. Tingles flowed through my arm as made me calm down. Damn this is not good.

"Yea, I'm fine. Do you know why class hasn't started yet?" I asked and he gave me a suspicious look but nodded.

"They had a assembly at seven so they are not having first block." He said.

"What was it about?" I asked.

"We get to go camping In cabins. four in a cabin. Two boys, two girls." He said smirking.

"Did we get to pick who was in our cabin?" I asked and his smirk widened.

"Yup. But don't worry I picked yours. It will be Jasmina, You, me and Jason." He said and I glared at him.

"You don't even know if I can come."I said.

"Well I could always go to the office get your parents number and ask." He suggested as he started walking towards the school doors. I grabbed his arm ignoring the tingles.

"No it's fine. My parents will be fine with it." I said nervously.

"Great. Well see you at lunch and tomorrow at 6 a.m." He smirked starting to walk away. I rushed up to him.

"What do you mean tomorrow at 6 a.m.?" I asked.

"Oh that's when we leave. Some people can take their own cars and others are going to take the bus. I have you signed up to ride with me." He said and I groaned out loud.

"Why must you be so annoying?' I asked and he just shrugged.

"Well what address should I pick you up at?" He said causing me to stop walking. Oh shoot!! This is bad! Really bad.

"Since you're a creep and I don't want you to know where I Live you can pick me up at the school. I'll just have my parents drop me off." I said and he just rolled his eyes.

"Fine." He said and I smiled and walked away. Now I just have to hope it isn't sunny where ever we go I am not ready to die after living for 482 years. The bell rang for my second block and I sighed guess I'm late.

Chapter Five

Waking up and going to school at 5 a.m is not anyone's favorite thing to do. Especially when you have to go on a trip camping with your soulmate who you need to stay away from. Oh wait my bad I forgot I tell you. I have decided to stay away from him before he thinks I'm a crazy freak. Look how great that's working out.

"Charlotte, Are you ready Sweetie?" My mother asked coming Into my room using her vampire speed.

"Yea I'm ready." I said grabbing my bag.

"Here don't let anyone open or take this bag. It has 4 water bottles of blood. I packed two extras just in case." My Father said handing me a small bag with a smile. I thanked him and we all went downstairs to the kitchen.

"Here you go Princess." One of the butlers Greg said.

"Thank You Greg."I said and he nodded and bowed before walking away.

"We are driving you to school today." My mother said making me choke on my drink.

"What?!?" I said in between coughs.

"It's about time we left the palace and we need to meet your teachers before you go. So no buts or questions go get into the limo. It's waiting outside." My Father said and I groaned but listened and followed behind slowly.

"Oh Charlotte no need to be so dramatic." My mother said rolling her eyes.

"C'mon walk faster, we all know you can." My Father said causing my mother to giggle. My parent have been around for over 1,000 years and they still act like they're Teenagers.

"Won't people be suspicious about your age? Oh and what about that vampire! He'll know I'm your daughter and I'll be exposed as a Royal PureBlood vampire!! People will come after me!!" I said listing all the cons to this.

"Charlotte calm down. You'll be safe.We have a small potion we got from a few witches we helped years ago. It will make us just like you. We will look like humans and we will look older too. " My father said calming me down. I sighed.

"Oh and we drank some blood to make our bodies warmer." My Mother added.

"Okay." I said and they smiled taking a sip of the potion.

"Oh Mom! Dad! You Look Old!" I said gasping when the potion worked a few minutes later.

"I feel wrinkles on my skin!! How old do we look!!" My mother said feeling her skin with a disturbed look on her face

"You look like your in your 40's." I said when we pulled up to the school. Max opened the door for us and held out his hand which I grabbed stepping out of the car. He did the same for both of my parents then grabbed my 2 bags and followed behind us.

"Name." Mr. Burt's my Principle said not looking up.

"Charlotte Fayee." My Mother answered smoothly.

"Oh Mr and Mrs Fayee! Its a pleasure to finally meet you." Mr.Burt's said finally looking up.

"Mr.Burt's the pleasure is all mine. How long is this trip?" My Mother asked with a smile.

"3 days. Your daughter is sharing a room with her friend Jasmina, Drew Parker and Jason Buret. They all will be riding with Drew." Mr. Burt's said.

"Oh wonderful. Well I'll see you in a few days Sweetie." My Father said kissing my check while my mother gave me a hug.

"Isn't Drew Parker your soulmate?" My Mom asked in a whisper so only I could hear. I nodded my head and she pulled away smiling.

"Be safe and Max go put Charlotte's bags in Drew's car." My mom instructed and he quickly nodded running off in human speed.

"Charlotte are these your parents?" Jasmina asked walking over with Drew and Jason.

"Yes, We are. You must be Jasmina Drew and Jason.I have heard a lot about you." She said and Drew sent me a smirk. I rolled my eyes.

"Its so nice to finally meet you!!" Jasmina exclaimed.

"Maybe when you get back from this trip you can all come join us for dinner." My Father said causing me to cough on my own spit.

"What?!" I exclaimed.

"Charlotte don't be rude." My Mother scolded.

"Sorry." I mumble my mom shot me a look causing me to raise my eyebrow, I didn't understand what that look meant.

"Well you all must get going. See you soon." My Mother said when Max came back.

"Bye Mother. Bye Father." I said and they got in the Limo and Max gave me a nod before going in the limo.

"I knew you were loaded!! You got brought here in a freaking Limo!!" Jasmine exclaimed.

"Yea, Yea, Yea." I said rolling my eyes as we headed to Drew's car.

"So you talk about me?" Drew said smirking.

"No." I said walking ahead.

"C you get front." Jasmina said as her and Jason jumped in the back seat.

"Yay 3 hours of fun sitting next to Drew. Every persons dream." I said sarcastically.

"Babe please. It may not be every persons dream but it is every girls dream." He said winking at me while starting the car. I just rolled my eyes in response. That thought though alone made me want to kill every girl on the planet by sucking them dry then Tearing them from limb to limb. A little violent yea but you would be to if you were in my situation. I clenched my fists at the thought of him even kissing another girl.

"Are you always so arrogant?" I asked Drew.

"Only when your around." He said smirking. He may be my soulmate or My beloved or whatever you want to call it. But all he is a jerk and a arrogant a and I swear that smirk never leaves his face.

But he looks hot when he smirks.

No he Doesn't.

Imagine his fangs on your throat, Him sucking your blood or even you doing the-

Nope. I can't think about that he is a Human and would hate to be a immortal creature that sucks the life outing people.

I got knocked out of my internal Thoughts when Jasmina leaned over and turned the radio on. I wonder how long I was fighting with my self but Im glad Jasmine knocked me out of my thoughts. my fangs were slowly growing and were very close to showing the whole car. I'm also pretty sure my eyes are darker. I closed my eyes and put my head against the window letting myself drift off to sleep.

---

3 hours later I was awoken by tingles shooting through my whole body and Someone calling my name. I almost moaned at the sound of the person calling my name. I slowly jumped and gasped when I seen Drew leaning over me.

"Finally! I have been trying to wake you up for 10 minutes!! Everyone already is in their cabins." Drew said an I looked around and noticed it was pouring. "Here you can use this." Drew said handing me his jacket.

"Thanks." I smiled. I grabbed my bag by my feet and then quickly ran to the cabin.

"They picked a beautiful day to go camping!" I said sarcastically.

"Yea I agree. Its all nice and Hot and Sunny,perfect weather for swimming!" Jasmina said in the same tone.

"Why did they chose these 3 days to go camping? It's suppose to rain everyday." Jason asked.

"Who knows but it could possibly get warmer and the weather man isn't always right." Jasmina said and I nodded in agreement.

"C'mon." Drew said opening the door for all of us. I raised a eyebrow at him and so did the others.

"I am not going anywhere in this weather." Jason said and Jasmina and I nodded.

"Oh stop being babies lets go swimming in the lake. It will be fun." Drew said and I shook my head No.

"Oh my gosh that would be fun. lets go!!" Jasmina said smiling.

"No, I'm not going. You can all go and have fun but I will stay right here in this warm cabin." I said.

"Yea I agree with Carrie. We could get sick." Jason said. I frowned. My name isn't even hard to remember.

"It's Charlotte." I said.

"Whatever. So you two go have fun we'll say here." Jason said.

"I never knew you two were such babies." Jasmina said coming out of our room wearing a 2 piece Yellow bikini. the too wrapped around just her chest and was strap less.

"I also don't have a bathing suit in here." I said matter-of-factly.

"I'm sure Jasmina has as extra." Drew smirked checking her out. I Love Jasmina to death but right now I could push her off a bridge for purposely showing off her body.

"Yup, Indeed I do." Jasmina said running in the room them coming back with another bathing suit just like hers but it had pink and white Polk-a-dots. I groaned but grabbed into and went into the room and quickly changed. When I was done I looked in the mirror and frowned it looked like something Chloe would wear. I walked out with the frown still on my face.

"I look like Chloe." I said speaking my earlier thoughts out loud.

"You look Hot." Drew said his eyes not moving from my chest.

"My Eyes are up here." I hissed.

"Where?" He asked seriously not removing his eyes. I grabbed the clothes I was wearing earlier and slid them on top of my swim suit.

"Jason you can stay here but were going." Jasmina said and Jason sighed but slid off his shirt.

"Okay Lets go." He said. I noticed Jason has a 6 pack that looked pretty sexy. As I was looking at Jason It sounded like Drew let out a hiss that was so low only a vampire could hear it. I most likely just imagined it though. We all walked out together in the rain and ran over to the lake and jumped in. It was freezing cold but I knew for a fact I wouldn't get sick. Vampires don't get sick,Its impossible.

"You cold?" Drew asked a while after we all had a huge splash war. I was surrounded by how concern he looked.

"No I'm fine but I don't know about Jasmina." I said and he looked over to where Jasmina was shivering her lips were turning blue.

"Lets go back. Jasmina's freezing and the teachers will probably be going around soon to make sure everyone made it in safely and are in their cabins." Jason said and I nodded. We all got out and Drew rapped a arm around my waist pulling me into him. His body was like a icicle but my body was probably like that too.

"Your freezing." Drew pointed out.

"Yea I'm a little cold." I said shrugging. He frowned and handed me his shirt to put over my swim suit. I would of put my clothes over but I might have forgotten to take them off before I jumped in, Therefore they are soaked. We quickly made it back to the cabins and we all took hot separate showers then laid down in our own rooms. I sat their for a while just thinking about Drew and how for once he was actually nice for a little while. He wasn't smirking or being arrogant he was being relaxed and pretty cool. I knew that I would have to make it my mission to get to know the real Drew Parker, With that Last thought I slowly drifted off to sleep.

Chapter Six

I woke up by the sun shining very brightly in the cabin window. I groaned and use my vampire speed to run over a close them. The last few days went by quickly surprisingly. Today was the last day here then we leave later tonight. Yesterday we all just spent watching movies since Mr.Burns said nothing else was planned for the trip since it rained.I quickly realized what I did and turned around and let out a sigh of relief when I noticed Jasmina wasn't in the room. I walked into the bathroom still wearing a off the shoulder shirt and a pair of black shorts with my hair up from last night. I looked in the mirror and gasped. My eyes where a dark red they're usually never like this. Then I remember what my father told me years ago.

If you are close by humans for a short period of time you start getting hungry and your eyes will turn a dark red instead of the normal red.

I listen closely using my vampire hearing and didn't hear anyone I used my vampire speed and ran to my room and quickly to my bag. I grabbed my last bottle of blood and chugged it down. I sighed in relied when my eyes were there normal light brown color. I walked back into the bathroom brushing my teeth and jumped when I turned around to see Drew there.

"I didn't notice you were up." He said.

"Yea, I just got up." I said after rinsing my mouth.

"Jason and Jasmina went to go grab our lunch from the hall so it's just you and me." He smirked. I rolled my eyes but I held back a smile at the thought.

"How long ago did they leave?" I asked while brushing my hair.

"About a half an hour ago." he said walking up behind me.

"Oh so they should be back any minute." I said and he just smirked.

"Yea but we still have time for a quick -"

"Don't even finished that sentence." I said glaring at him he wrapped his arms around my waist and pushed me back so my back was against his chest. I cleared my throat and pulled away.

"Ever here of personal space?" I asked even though I was secretly enjoying be that close to him before I pulled away.

"Oh Babe, you know you like me that close to you." He said pulling me back towards him in his arms causing a warm,tingling feeling to go through my arms. Some emotion quickly flashed through his eyes before I could detect what it was.

"Oh your totally right. I mean would wouldn't love to be in the arms of the Number one "It" Boy of the school. Look at those muscles." I said sarcastically acting like all of the girls at school.

"I knew you did. Just so you know This is all real I work out 6 times a week babe." He said showing off his muscles completely ignoring my sarcasm. I just rolled my eyes.

"Oh really I can't tell." I said and he grabbed my wrist and put it on his arm.

"You seem mistaken that's fat not muscle." I said now smirking and walked out of the bathroom.

"Hey Charlie,maybe you should go get your eyes checked. Good thing I'm driving home. I'm still to young to die." Drew said and I narrowed my eyes.

"Ha. Ha. Your an Ass." I said and shut the cabin door in his face. I heard him chuckle from the living room. I started packing my bags and shoved my clothes and bathing suit and all my other necessities in my bag, not even bothering to fold everything before zipping it up.

"I'm Back!!!!" Jasmina yelled walking into the cabin and I walked out of the room and went into where the food was.

"We decided to get you guys Chinese food since they were having a huge buffet for the last day here." Jasmina said.

"Yea, you should of seen those lines. They were crazy with a Capital C." Jason said walking into the room.

"I feel bad but I'm not really hungry. I forgot you guys were getting food so I had a snack already." I said and Drew narrowed his eyes but nodded in agreement.

"Yea, I Did too. You know I hate Chinese man." Drew said to Jason.

"Sorry, I forgot." Jason said and gave Drew a sheepish smile.

"Well then I guess it's just me and you eating then Jason." Jasmina said taking the food out of the bags.

"II'll eat later. I'm gonna go take a shower." Jason said nervously and ran out of the room. I narrowed my eyes a little at the door he went through but shrugged it off anyways and went to grab my bags to start loading them up in the car.

Chapter Seven

You know those times when your life is going great but then all of a sudden it all goes crashing down. But as everything is going crashing down you get home and everything is just ten times worse. Lets start from the beginning, A little before this disaster happened ....

1 Hour earlier.**

"Drew, go somewhere." I snapped slamming my locker closed.

"Yea c'mon baby." Chloe purred causing Ashlyn to roll her eyes and snort. Chloe just gave her a glare before quickly going back to trying to convince Drew to leave with her.

"Chloe later." Drew snapped annoyed. I rolled my eyes and started to walk away with Ashlyn to third period. Every senior just got back from the cabin trip and we all have to continue the rest of the day. Now of course its not surprising that Drew is with me. Again. But today its a different reason, he is begging me to go on a date. He feels like since we shared a cabin we have some type Of thing going on. The funny part is we didn't even see each other for half of the trip. How did I end up so lucky to end up with a soulmate like Drew. I must be going to hell. I thought dryly.

"This conversation isn't over. Your lucky I have to go meet up with the boys." Drew said jogging off.

"Why won't he just admit he likes me and we date." Chloe whined still walking with Ashlyn and I.

"Maybe, just maybe because he doesn't find girls who wear half shirts and skirts that can be counted as a belt attractive." Ashlyn said and My eyes widened. Usually Ashlyn is smarter when it comes to talking to Chloe like this.

Damn this is not good.

"Excuse me!! What did you just say to me, Chloe Taylor the Number one 'IT' girl. " Chloe said loudly causing attention to herself. Of course typical Chloe. When she gets in to cat fight she has to make it known.

"She said nothing. Right Ashlyn?!" I said giving her a look. Which she ignored.

"Do you even know what regular jeans are!! I mean you wear a pair of extra small skinny jeans so they can make 'your legs look better' " Ashlyn said using her index finger and middle finger for quote marks.

"Ashlyn stop." I said but once again I was ignored. Who knew humans were so dramatic. I thought to myself.

"Charlotte stay out of it!" Chloe snapped. " I could have you picking up the scraps on the ground right now if I wanted to!! Don't forget Sparks I own this school. You and all the other students bow down to me. No questions should be asked. Unlike you Ashlyn, I don't dress like a boy and I have a actual style." Chloe added While saying Ashlyn's name with distaste.

I personally liked Ashlyn's clothing style, its cute and comfortable. But besides that thought I was now very annoyed with Chloe. Who Does she think she is saying everyone should bow down to her. If my mother was here right now she would of demanded her head cut off. Of course since she is human that can't exactly happen. So she would of most likely demanded her life in the dungeon downstairs. To me that thought doesn't sound like such a bad idea.

"I don't dress like a boy!!! Your just jealous because Unlike you I'm now dating Brad." Ashlyn said and everyone gasped including me. This was a first to me.

"That's great that your dating Brad, the Ex "It" boy. Chloe said emphasizing on the Ex part.

"At least I don't have to walk around begging a boy to date me." Ashlyn snapped and everyone made a ooh sound.

"I bet Brad would drop you so fast Ashlyn if I asked him out. Sorry to burst your bubble Hun but he is only dating you because he knows your friend Charlotte is basically counted as a "It" girl."Chloe said rolling her eyes. Ashlyn just shook her head tears filling her eyes.

"That's not true!! Charlotte doesn't even like you! She only puts up with you because-because-" Ashlyn stuttered trying to fill in words.

"Ashlyn babe, stopped making up lies to make yourself feel better, Your only embarrassing yourself now. Just go run off to your so called boyfriend." Chloe say sweetly and Ashlyn just stormed off with tears sliding down her face and Chloe just laughed and flipped her hair and walked off.I frowned everything that was said between the two did not need to be said. Chloe doesn't dress like all the girls do in Mean Girls she actually has style and she doesn't date every guy either and Ashlyn doesn't dress like a guy.I decided to quickly jogged after her.

"Ash! Ash wait!" I yelled running up to her.

"Its true isn't it!! Brad would never like me. Ugh god I'm so stupid!!" Ashlyn said with new fresh angry tears.

"No don't listen to her Hun. You know no one should ever mess with Chloe. I'm not gonna question it right this moment but expect this Friday to sleep over my place and have a big bowl of IceCream while watching chick flicks." I said and Ashlyn gasped.

"What?!? You have never invited anyone to your house!" Ashlyn exclaimed looking at me with wide eyes.

"Yea well my parents invited Drew, Jason and Jasmina over so I thought I should invite you too. After Jason and Drew leave we can have a girls night." I said and Ashlyn smiled.

"That sounds like a amazing idea." Ashlyn said sniffling but now with a small smile

"I text you the details. But I'm gonna go because it looks like someone needs to talk to you. " I said looking over her shoulder at Brad. He gave me a thankful smile and I smiled back. I quickly gave Ashlyn a hug and whispered," I wanna hear about this later." then winked before running off. I was about to head to class before my phone rang. I seen it was my mother and sighed. I never get a break.

"Hello." I said into the phone.

"Charlotte, they found out." My mother said panicked.

"Mother calm down. What's wrong? Who found out what?" I asked into the phone and looked around making sure no one was in hearing range. Of course no one was because class has started.

"The Council, the whole vampire world has found out that we had you. That the queen and King have a daughter and they will do anything to find you."

Chapter Eight

"It had to be one of the servants!! I told you we shouldn't hire any servants Elizabeth!" Father yelled pacing around the room.

"Oh don't you dare blame this on me! I can't control that this happened!" Mother yelled back. Their fighting has been going on for about 2 hours now.

"Okay well I'm not getting any younger so instead of fighting can we please try to figure out how this happened or more likely how this started!" I asked standing up from one of the chairs in the throne room.

"Of course you aren't your a vampire honey you will always be the same age , Well in human years of course." Mom said winking.

"But anyways so we thought today was a normal day until Melissa came knocking on our door demanding why we didn't tell her we had a heir to the throne and then she put two and two and together about you being a royal PureBlood vampire and basically she had to announce it to the whole Vampire community so now everyone is looking for you." My Mother quickly explained. You may be wondering who Melissa is, well she is the head of the Vampire council. My parents may be queen and king and work with the council and all that fun stuff for where we live in Burton, Seattle but the council are in charge of everyone and everything that involves vampires. (A/N: Burton, Seattle is the place for just Vampires.)

"Do they know like how I look like and my name and things like that?" I asked nervously.

"Oh definitely no. But it won't be long till they find out. Every morning you will have to be careful when going to shook because your going to be watched like a hawk." Father said and I nodded.

"Mitchell, tell all the servants they have about 5 minutes to be in here the thrown room before we go back to the old ways of deaths."Father said as the servant Mitchell came in to hand us our warm cups of blood. He quickly nodded before scurrying off.

"Wait, Mother why would Melissa care so much?" I asked and she sighed and set down her cup.

"Well just like everyone wants you because of you being a royal pureblood the council wants you too." Mother said and my eyebrows furrowed.

"Why?" I asked.

"Well you see Charlotte you have higher abilities then most vampires. You can read minds and you can last longer then 2 days with blood if you needed to, while normal vampires or even royal vampires need blood at least once a day. You'll have many more new abilities very soon."

"Oh great. So should I fear for my life now?" I asked sarcastically.

"Don't use that tone with us Charlotte." My Father said using his king voice and I sighed and apologized.

"I know we told your friends they can all come over but we are gonna have to reschedule. Its to risky right now. But you can go out on Friday with them of course in the human world but even their you should still try to stay low." My mother said and I nodded.

"Okay, I'm gonna text my friends then lay down." I said and my parents nodded. "Goodnight sweetie." They said together. I rolled my eyes as they started yelling at all the employes and firing basically half of then.

~Drew's POV~

"Where is Charlotte?" Alexith my best friend asked.

"Good question. But I have no idea. " I said frowning at the group.

"You lost the future Queen?" Keith asked and I rolled my eyes.

"That isn't a for sure thing. She is a human guys." I said and Jason frowned.

"So? Char is so sweet and every vampire in the kingdom would accept her and don't forget you can always change her." Jason said and I nodded.

"I know but that would be a lot on her being a newborn vampire and being the queen of thousands of vampires." I said.

"Well Prince Drew. If the possible future queen isn't here and you don't know where she is then how do you know she isn't hurt right now?" Keith asked.

"Yea , You two aren't bonded..." Alexith said trailing off and My eyes widen at the realization. Gosh I'm so stupid.

"I want each and every one of you to start searching this school!". I said with a demanding tone and they nodded right away and quickly ran off as fast as they could in front of humans. I tried finding her smell and groaned in frustration when I couldn't.

" I don't care if we have to spend the whole night searching for her. I want her found. You don't need sleep so you can and will look for eternity if you have to. Do you understand." I asked and the guard nodded an ran out of the room.

"Son, maybe you should take it easy." My Father said and I glared at him. Its been 5 hours and no one has been able to find my little Charlie. After Keith, Alex and I searched around the whole school I came home to the palace and started to order guards around to find my girl. I just hope she's okay.

"Well here's a topic that will get your mind off your Soulmate for a moment. Did you here about the king and queen of Burton,Seattle on have a daughter. She is very wanted." My father said and I raised my eyebrow curiously.

"Why?" I asked.

"Have you ever heard of a pureblood vampire?" My father asked me and I nodded.

"Well have you ever heard of a Pureblood vampire and a Royal vampire being married." He asked and I nodded again.

"Yes father, but what does that have to do with anything.

"Well son you see if a pureblood vampire and a Royal Vampire have a child then the child is very wanted." Father said.

"Yes very wanted. The vampire would be very powerful and could probably take out half of the vampire population if needed to. If the vampire is a rouge Royal Pureblood then they can very dangerous. Their are probably about 15 in the whole world. But do you see where we are getting at?" Mother asked and I nodded slowly.

"So I'm guessing the king and queen from Seattle, Burton are a Pureblood vampire and a royal vampire and they had this very powerful daughter. Right?" I asked and this time they nodded.

"Yes, but they didn't recently just have this daughter. They had her decades ago which is very bad due to the fact that the council had no idea of this Royal Pureblood." My father said and my eyes widen. That most likely had to of been a crime. I mean not informing the council on something is asking for a death wish.But as we continued to talk about the girl I couldn't help but feel like I knew her.

~Charlotte's POV~

I woke up the next morning and seen I was still on my normal schedule so I took a quick 10 minute shower and then after changed into a Black pencil skirt and a purple short sleeve blouse. I tucked in the blouse into my skirt and put on a pair of black flats. I noticed I had a little bit of extra time and so I put my hair in nice big curls and used my speed and went downstairs.

My parents ended up putting some type of spell on my car that they got from a witch they met a long time ago to make something invisible, of course with our luck it didn't work on my car so we are all stuck pondering how to get me to school without exposing me. By the time we figured out a solution it was about the 2nd block.

"Oh geez. How could we forget! You should be able to transport." My mother said while sanding up all of a sudden.

"How?" I asked.

"Well I once read in a book all you have to do is think of a place and blink and then voilà your their." Mother said and I nodded.

"Okay. I'll try it out." I said and started to think about the school gates and all the flowers around it. I blinked and then quickly opened my eyes and seen it actually worked I was no longer in my kitchen. I quickly texted my mom telling her I made it and started heading to the door. I went to my locker and grabbed my books and headed to class.

"Your late." Mr. Jude said and I smiled sheepishly.

"Sorry." I mumbled as I was walking to my seat I was met with Drew's eyes which were wide.

"You're okay." He whispered to himself sounding amazed. I gave him a strange look but decided to act like I didn't hear him and tuned into the lesson.

Chapter Nine

To say I was surprised would be a understatement. The moment the Bell rang signaling second block was over Drew has his arms wrapped around me and was putting his face in my neck.

"What are you doing?" I asked leaving my arms at my side.

"I thought something happened to you. You weren't at school for the last part of the day yesterday." Drew said and I would have gave him a strange look if he wasn't still hugging me.

"Yea, well I had family emergency.Oh speaking of I'm sorry but the whole coming over tomorrow is canceled. But we can all still go out somewhere as a group." I said and he nodded pulling away with a small frown.

"How come you were so worried about me?" I asked.

"I already told you I thought something happened, I mean you kind of just disappeared." He said and I nodded slowly. Human boys are weird. I thought to myself.

"Oh okay." I said while nodding slowly and starting to back away.

"Well um I have to get to class so I'll talk to you later, Kay?" His frown deepened at what I said.

"Why don't we just ditch for the day. I mean doesn't a nice Oreo blizzard with Cookie dough and M&MS sound good." He asked smiling and I just shook my head while sighing.

"You see I have to get my makeup work but maybe later. Alright? Bye." I said quickly and started to quickly walk away. I didn't like seeing Drew so worried. I could have ditched with him because I could honestly care less about all the extra work I have to do but I just couldn't bring myself to actually do it and have a chance of becoming close with Drew. I mean the closer I get with him the more I'll want him to know about me, and I don't want that. Why you may ask,well because if he knows I'm a vampire he'll go running for the hills and I'll be left rejected and alone. I closed my eyes and my fists tightened as I leaned against the locker. If I could cry then you would see me balling my eyes out like a baby. But I cant so you don't have to worry about me having an emotional breakdown.I have one question though, Why did the fate put me with a human boy. Why.

~Drew's POV~

I watched Charlie walk away from me down the long empty hallway making me feel alone and empty. I felt like she just rejected me right their. I can't let that happen. I thought to myself determined. After a moment or two of thinking I'm pretty positive my eyes lite up as I thought of an plan. I will make Charlotte Faye fall in love with me. One way or another.

~Charlotte's POV~

When I told Drew that maybe later we could go get that blizzard I didn't mean it literally. By the time the end of the day came he was leaning against my locker with his car keys in his hand and holding a blizzard smirking at me from across the hall way.

"Is that Drew at your locker?" Jasmine asked wide eyes and I nodded.

"Yep." I said rolling my eyes

"Oh Charlotte!" Chloe sang walking up to me making me stop in my tracks.

"Yes Chloe?" I asked with a raised eyebrow.

"We've got a little problem." She said standing their with her arms crossed.

"We do?" I asked confused. Chloe and I have never had a problem. Ever.

"Yes,We do. You see Charlotte you know I feel when specials try to steal my boyfriend." She said putting her hand on my back.

"She isn't stealing your boyfriend Chloe." Jasmine said glaring at her.

"Shut it nerd." Chloe said snapping at Jasmine and I frowned.

"Don't snap at her she was just trying to help me and she wasn't lying either." I said calmly." I'm not trying to steal Drew from you. He won't leave me alone as you can see." I said pointing to where he was leaning at my locker. A small smile tugged at my lips as I seen he was checking his hair. Its so typical of him.

"Well then I can fix that problem. Now that we have that settled do you want to go shopping this weekend?" She asked and I nodded.

"Yea sure." I said smiling and she smiled back before saying she had to go and walked off. The moment she left the smile slipped off my face. Even though I said I didn't want to get close with Drew I didn't mean I wanted another girl to have him.Call me selfish but as much as I don't want to say it I think of Mr. Drew Parker as mine.

"What are you doing?" Jasmine asked me with crossed arms.

"What do you mean?" I asked confused.

"What are you doing still standing here.Go talk to that boy and don't come back till you do.I don't care what Chloe says, he isn't her boyfriend. He is your future husband so she can back off and find herself a new man. Now shoo." She said pushing me towards Drew. I laughed at what she said and started to walk towards him.

"Hey." He said pushing off the locker.

"Should I ask why your leaning against my locker with a blizzard in your hand or should I ask why you haven't have me some yet?" I asked while crossing my arms and smirking. He gave me a cute lopsided grin and handed the blizzard to me.

"It was originally for you in the first place but you were taking to long so I ate some." He said shrugging. Now don't get me wrong. I still don't like the dull plain, bland food that the humans eat but I can make an exception for Blizzards because these things are probably the best things these humans have made in decades.

"Sadly you know my weakness so I must eat this." I said taking a bite and I moaned at the delicious creamy taste. I noticed Drew's eyes got a little darker going to a darker golden brown. Making my eyes widen a little but when I blinked they were back to their normal color making me question if I just imagine it.

"I knew I would one day find out your weakness." Drew said smirking."Don't worry babe I always knew you wanted me." I rolled my eyes at that stamens.

"Ha. Ha. Your very funny.Who knew you had such an sense of humor." I said sarcastically and he cracked a small grin. I couldn't help but noticed his dimples he had when he smiled and how his eyes brightened when he laughs. I shook my head removing those thoughts.

"Well I would love to stay and chat but I must be going. Thanks for the blizzard." I said with a smile before giving him a wave and went down the hallway. Once I was out of his sight and anyone else's I quickly thought of home and blinked and next think I noticed was I was in the throne room.

"I see you've got the hang of the whole transportation thing." My father said and I laughed and nodded.

"It's kind of fun but it drains my energy." I said as a wave of tiredness swept over me am he nodded.

"Why don't you go rest." He said and I nodded.

"Goodnight Father. Tell mother I said goodnight also." I said and he nodded.

"I will." He said and I went upstairs using my speed and changed out of my school clothes and changed into a pair of shorts and loose shirt. I laid down and thought about how nice it would be to have Drew laying next to me or even being able to just hang out with him at the Palace. I sighed as I was once again getting lost in the world of thoughts.

Chapter Ten

The past few weeks have went by pretty quickly and the vampire community has went crazy in those few weeks. The council has offered a huge reward for who ever found the Princess. In other words who ever found me. Right now I was about to get ready for school. I put on a pair of Light blue skinny jeans and blue flats that are open toes at the end and have a bow on them. I then put on a white short sleeve blouse that was a little puffy and put on a blue vest over it. I started to curl my hair but stopped as I noticed I was looking really pale. Like I actually looked like a vampire. I frowned but continued to quickly curl my hair. I put on some lip gloss and grabbed my purse before heading down stairs. I was in no rush so I didn't use my speed.When I got downstairs my parents were sitting in their usually spots.

"Morning." I said smiling brightly my mother sniffed the air and her eyes widened.

"Do you smell that?" My mother asked looking at my father and his eyes widen as he started to also sniff the air.

"What do you guys smell? I don't smell anything?" I asked confused as I grabbed a cup of blood from the fridge and set it in the microwave. My father stood up and smelled the air.

"It smells faint. like someone was here for a while and left." My father said sound a little unsure of his self.

"I swear if the council are coming in to this house!" My mother hissed as she let her fangs show. "We will lock them up! They have no right stepping foot into our palace! No Right!"

"Honey, It doesn't smell like the council. This smell... its new." My father said and I finished up the cup and put it in the sink.

"Darling, Are you okay? You look a little.. I don't know paler." My mother said looking at me closely and I shrugged.

"I feel fine." I lied smoothly. I honestly didn't feel fine. I haven't felt like this in years. I feel like a real vampire again. My senses are all heightened. I feel like I have lived a life like a human. "Well I must go. Let me know if you find anything out. Goodbye Father, Mother." I said nodding my head in a goodbye matter and picked up my bag before teleporting into a bathroom stall at school.

The girl who was in here walked out and I opened the stall door. I seen I still looked almost as pale as my mother but decided to ignore it. I walked out of the bathroom and seen Chloe at her locker talking with April.

"Oh Charlotte! Sweetie! We need to talk." Chloe said waving me over. I slowly walked over to her and said, "Whatcha need?"

"You haven't been in your parking spot lately! Some new freshman tried to take it! But don't worry I handled it so its still your spot. But besides that where's your car?" Chloe asked with an raised eyebrow and I sighed.

"Its in the shop. Some idiot crashed into my car while pulling out of a parking lot." I lied.

"Oh I see. I can give you a ride everyday if you want?" She said but I shook my head no.

"It's okay but thanks for the offer." I said smiling.

"Are you sure?" She asked with a small frown and I nodded.

"Yea, my car should be done soon." I Said.

"Mkay. " She said and April elbowed her and whispered into her ear.I used my vampire hearing and listened in.

"You have to tell her about the 'It' Boy thing." April whispered and Chloe clapped her hands excitingly.

"Oh my gosh! How could I forget to tell you C! So as you already know Drew is mine but Alex seems like he likes you and the girls and I thought you would be cute together so we set you to up! He is going to take you out to lunch today!" Chloe said excitingly with a wide a smile and I frowned.

"Listen Chlo that's sounds fun but-"

"No buts! Your going! He'll pick you up at the front of the building. I want to hear all the details and you have to eventually get over Jake C so go have fun!" Chloe said smiling widely and I sighed irritated.

"Okay." I said trying to not let my annoyance show.

"Great! So have fun on your date and by the way you look great today!Bye Bye C." Chloe said doing the whole kiss, kiss thing they do in France. As they walk I let a scowl on my face. The only person I want is Drew but apparently that's not gonna happen yet. Key word Yet. As I start heading to my locker I notice Ashlyn and Jasmine walking up to me.

"Hey Char!" They say and I smile back saying 'Hi.'

" So... I thought you liked Drew...?" Ashlyn asked confused.

"I have never agreed to liking that annoying prick!" I said rolling my eyes as we got to my locker.

"C'mon Lott you don't have to hide it. We already know." Jasmine said smiling.

"I don't know what your talking about." I said shrugging simply.

"Cut the crap Charlotte. We all know you do so please tell us why you are going on a lunch date with Mr. Alex Sterling." Melanie asked leaning against the locker next to me.

"Mel! Your back!How was Paris?"I asked desperately trying to change the subject and Melanie just rolled her eyes.

"It was great and their are some really hot French guys there." Melanie said giving me a look that said 'your not getting out of this.'

"Of course they weren't hotter than me." Caleb said kissing Melanie on the cheek. For those who may have forgotten Caleb is one of the ex 'It' boys that is dating Melanie.

"What is this? Party at Charlotte's locker?" I asked sarcastically but of course I was ignored.

"Hey back on subject! Nice attempted to change it though C. But you need to tell us why are you going out with Alex if you like Drew!" Ashlyn said.

"Wait you like Drew? Oh Jake is gonna be pissed having his girl stolen from him." Caleb said shaking his head.

"I wan never his girl and he cheated on me with Molly. My BestFriend." I said glaring at him and he put his hands up in surrender.

"He feels as though Drew is stealing everything from him." Caleb said shrugging and I rolled my eyes.

"Okay, ignore this idiot and explain!" Melanie said with a serious look.

"I just found out about this whole 'date' thing so I don't know how this is going through the school so fast!" I said slamming my locker closed.

"Wait- So you didn't know about this date? Who set this up then?" Ashlyn asked confused.

"Chloe." I said and everyone said 'Ohh' and nodding in understatement.

"Charlotte. Can I talk to you for a moment?" Drew asked walking up to me. "Alone." He added seeing the group around me.

"Bye Char. See you later" Jasmine said waving and Everyone else yelled goodbyes before walking off.

"What do you want Drew?" I asked.

"You won't date me but you'll date Alex and -" He started to say but stopped and stared at me as he took a deep breath. It almost looked like he was smelling something..

"Have you been with another guy?" Drew asked suddenly looking angry.I just stared at him confused.

"Other than just being Caleb. No." I said slowly.

"Who have you been with Charlotte?" Drew asked looking really worried.

"Just that group? Why?" I asked as Drew quickly grabbed my arm. "Drew your scaring me." I said as he started to rush me down the hallways still holding onto my arm. He ended up bringing me to his group of friends as the bell rang and I sighed frustrated.

"I have to get to class Drew!" I said pulling my arm out of his.

"Charlie. I need you to stay with me. Someone you have been with is very dangerous." Drew said putting his hands on my face as he looked me into the eyes. I would have closed my eyes and just had a full blown make-out session right their if their wasn't that fact that he seemed so worried and almost.. I don't if this right but almost scared.

"Drew? What do you mean? How do you know?" I asked completely confused.

"Charlotte, I have to tell you something." Drew said nervously and the guys gave him a nod of encouragement.

"What?" I asked suspiciously now crossing my arms over my chest.

"First off you look really hot in that outfit." he said checking me out and I scoffed.

"Your such a pig! I honestly thought you were gonna say something important." I said hitting his arm and he smirked before his face went serious again.

"Charlotte. Do you believe In supernatural creatures?" He asked me and my eyes widened and I stared at him for a moment.

"Me." I asked pointing to my self and he rolled his eyes but nodded."No, of course not. Drew do I look five?" I asked trying to not let my nervousness show. But he just ignored me.

"What would you think if per-say I told you I wasn't human?"

Chapter Eleven

When I went to school this morning I could already tell things were going to be different but what was happening right now I wasn't expecting. I was looking at Drew with questioning eyes wondering what he was talking about.

"What are you talking about Drew?"I asked speaking my thoughts as I stood their stiffly.

"What if I told you I could do things that most normal people can't?" Drew asked me and I frowned.

"Whatever game your playing Drew it isn't funny." I said glaring at him and he sighed and ran his hand over his face.

"Charlotte, Drew isn't kidding. Lets just say we aren't all normal. Were special." Jason said and I nodded slowly trying to comprehend them and my eyes widen as I remember the phone call I had with my mother.

Flashback

"Hello." I said into the phone.

"Sweetie Your father and I have just been informed that their is other kids that live in our world that are going to your school so Please be careful." My Mother said with fear in her voice.

"Don't worry Mother we have nothing to worry about remember." I said.

"I Know but-"

" I have to go but don't worry everything will be fine." I said trying to end the call as Drew and his group were look suspiciously at me.

"Fine Goodbye. But Don't Cut me off again." My Mother said in her Queen Voice.

Flashback Over

I gasped as I realized they could very well be the vampires that are at our school. I didn't say anything but continued to look at them suspiciously.

"Charlie, I just know you think I am crazy but I'm not. I just have this special ability to sense certain things and I can see that someone or something has been by you that isn't exactly normal and is very powerful." Drew said looking angry.

"Listen Drew, You need to stay away from me." I said glaring at him and taking a few steps back from him. It broke my heart to say those words but I had no choice.

"C'mon Charlie,Don't do this." He said looking hurt and I just shook my head. He suddenly sniffed the air again and started looking around.

"Drew.." Alex said trailing off looking around.

"I know." Drew responded sharply.

"Are you some type of dog?" I asked worried. If he was a Werewolf and my parents found out they would kill him. Vampires are forbidden to have a werewolf mate. If the council found out they would kill him and I would die to due to the fact that I wouldn't have my soulmate, My other half. When I look at Drew again he looked highly offended.

"Hell no!" He said and all the guys looked at me like I was crazy.

"Charlotte, We're vampires." Drew said and I gasped. I had to grab onto a locker so I wouldn't just fall on the ground. A smile found its way on my face but quickly left when I realized I couldn't tell him I was too. He could tell the council.

'But he wouldn't.'

I can't take the chance. I thought sadly.

"She's smiling?" Jason said looking confused.

"Are you gonna like suck my blood or something?" I asked pretending to look scared now. Drew just smiled and chuckled.

"I expected that one." Drew said honestly.

"I don't understand... Why was it so important to tell me that you are this thing?" I asked putting quotes around thing. Drew gave his group a look and they quickly walked off so it was just Drew and I walking towards the entrance of the school.

"In our world there are something called a soul mate."

"Oh so like in fairy tales?"I asked rolling my eyes. I had to play this right and by doing that I'm going to act like I don't believe he is actually a vampire.I wanted to smile at how cute he was being while trying to explain the whole idea of Vampires and Soul mate's.

"Yea, Basically every vampire has one. Soul mates are your other half. The one who was made to be with just you and you only." He said smiling.

"What does this have to do with anything?" I asked pretending to be confused as I furrowed my eyebrows. On the inside though I was squealing like a little girl on Christmas. I thought I would never be able to hear him say I was his Soulmate.

"Charlotte, Your my Beloved. Your my soulmate. The one I meant to be with for the rest of my life. In my 462 years of living I have never loved someone as much as I love you." Drew said looking into my eyes with pure love and A smile made its way onto my Face.

"Drew I-"

"You don't have to say it. Its okay I understand but please don't run from me because of what I am." He said sadly and I put my lips on his and he seemed surprised at first but he quickly responded. This is really cliche but I feel I could stay in his arms forever. I smiled into the kiss and let out a small happy sigh as he pulled away. I couldn't take it anymore. I can't stand here and lie to him as he pours out his heart to me. I have to tell Him.

I have to tell Drew I'm a Royal Pure Blood Vampire.

Chapter Twelve

"Drew..." I said trailing off.

"Wait- before you say anything I need to let you know something. The thing I was smelling is the scent of a Vampire. A very strong vampire has been by you. Stronger than me and Charlie I'm a Royal vampire." Drew said and I couldn't help but notice how arrogant he sounded.

"Charlie... Why does it sound like your heartbeat is slowing down?" Drew asked worried. He put his hand on my heart and frowned.

" Are you feeling okay?"He asked suddenly very worried and I nodded.

"Drew, I have to tell you-"

"Are you sure your-"

"Bloody hell Drew stop cutting me off!" I said putting my hand on his mouth.

"Sorry." He mumbled as I pulled my hand off.

"But honestly Charlotte your scaring me. Are you okay? You even look really pale. Lets go get you to the nurse's office." Drew said rambling on and on and I was officially annoyed. I pulled his hand off of me.

"Drew!" I said trying to get his attention but he kept talking and I hissed.

"Drew can you shut the hell up for 5 minutes! I have been trying to tell you I'm a Vampire too." I yelled and he continued talking but stopped when he heard what I said.

"What? No your not. I can turn you maybe eventually when we complete the whole process of you being my Beloved and stuff if you honestly want to be damned for the rest of your life." He said frowning at me and I let out a hiss of frustration.

"I'm a Royal Pureblood Vampire from Maplewood." I said and his frown deepened.

"No you not. Thats impossible. You have a heartbeat and your body is warm." He said but it sounded as if he was trying to convince his self.

"I have a spell put on me a few decades ago by a witch to make me have a heartbeat and so every time I drink blood my body temperature will be like a normal humans and the spell also made me have a normal tan skin like other humans." I said and he just stared at me for a moment seeming completely shocked.

"If you know about Maplewood and..if what your saying is true then that means we can be together." He said as he stopped walking.

"But wait a second. Their is only one vampire in Maple wood that is a Royal Pureblood and she is the princess that everyone is looking for and damn that's you isn't it." He said looking worried and I sighed but nodded slowly.

"Yea,that princess is me. But you can't tell anyone." I said seriously.

"I won't. That could put you in danger. I would never put you, my beloved in danger. I will always protect you." He said just as serious.

"Your a prince aren't you?" I stated. I already basically knew the answer by how he acted. Most Vampire princes and future Kings are very protected and Possessive of their Beloveds.Kind of like how an Alpha is protective of his Luna. If you haven't figured it out yet someone's Beloved is the same as a soulmate. Just the difference is that I'm a girl so to him I would be his beloved and since he is obviously a guy he would be my Soulmate.

"Yup. I'm the hot, sexy, Prince of the Burton community." He said arrogantly.

"I see you being arrogant wasn't an act." I said Rollin my eyes and he just smirked

"Of course not babe. I don't act." He said a matter of factly and I ignored him as we got into his car.

"Charlotte?" Drew suddenly asked sounding confused.

"Yea?" I replied while searching through my purse, looking for my phone.

"If you have that spell on you then why can I smell you perfectly clear that your now a vampire. Your the scent I have been faintly smelling." He said as his eyes widen and mine did to as I stopped looking through my purse and looked up at him.

"Wait, did you just say you can tell that I'm a vampire?" I asked now nervous.

"Yea. You barely have a heartbeat and I can smell that your obviously a pureblood vampire." He said as he started the car.

"This is not good." I said quickly as I searched for my phone. When I finally found my phone I took it out and seen I have a text message from my mother. But before I pressed open pain spread through my body and I was soon gasping for air. I don't need air obviously because I'm counted as dead but the pain I felt through my body was excruciating. I was holding on to the dashboard as I started coughing and basically wheezing. I doubt it was a pretty sight. I held onto my stomach feeling like I've just been stabbed.

"Charlotte? What's wrong? Whats going on?" Drew asked quickly pulling over to the side of the road. I couldn't respond as I felt another wave of excruciating burning pain spread through out my body.

"Don't worry Charlie, I'll get you to the doctors right away."Drew said determined as he quickly started the car and started speeding towards a way I've never been before. He held onto my hand and black spots started to block my vision and my eyes slowly starting closing on their own.

"Charlie you have to keep your eyes open. Dammit Charlotte,you can't die on me." He said with pain in his voice. I would of responded that I'm fine but we both knew I wasn't. The burning started again and I cried out in pain. I felt like I was being tied to a pole in the scorching hot sun light.

"Charlotte what do you feel? C'mon baby what hurts?" Drew asked panicking as he swerved a little to look at me.

"Drew." I gasped. My phone was now long forgotten and was laying on the floor while the black spots were starting to become worse and my eyes officially closed on there own.

"Charlotte!" I heard Drew yelled but it sounded like a mere whisper as I started to fall into darkness.

~Drew's POV~

If I was a human I would of had a heart attack by now. I wasn't concentrating on anything but Charlotte as her eyes closed and she screamed out in pain. I pulled up to my house or palace or whatever you want to call it and quickly ran over to her side and picked her up not even bothering to shut off the car or shut the doors. I used my vampire speed and sped through the house towards the infirmary. Her body was very hot but it didn't seem to bother me as I was too worried.

"Prince Drew. Whats wrong?" The doctor Eric asked as I quickly sped into the room and set Charlotte on the bed. He rushed to her side and touched her forehead but hissed and removed his hand.

"She's burning up." He said holding his hand.

"Help her!" I yelled commanding him and he quickly nodded running over to his equipment.

"I'm gonna need you to back up your majesty." He said looking worried that I was gonna yell at him again. I hissed at him as I seem a needle in his hand.

"Drew, what is the meaning of all this yelling?"My mother asked walking in to the infirmary. She gasped as she see's Charlotte laying on the bed.

"Is this your Beloved?" My mother asks carefully walking over slowly and I hiss at her and she stopped walking.I didn't even trust my own mother at the moment. I felt as if she could hurt my poor baby.

"Drew, I understand your very protective of her right now but you have to let Eric help her." She said carefully as Charlotte let out a hiss of pain. Her eyes were still closed and I stared at her small body frowning when I seen her eyebrows furrowed in pain. I sighed but nodded stepping away from her. My eyes didn't leave her face as I stepped back watching her carefully. Scared that she may scream in pain again. Oh Charlotte what is going on with you.

Chapter Thirteen

The moment I came back from being unconscious I regretted it. All my body felt was pain. It wasn't as bad as when I was in the car. No, it was more of a sore type of pain. I could hear people whispering and someone's grip on my hand. The tingles that spread through my arm let me know it was Drew who was holding my hand and I squeezed it back causing him let out a small gasp.

"Charlie. Are you okay sweetie?" He asked nervously and I groaned slowly opening my eyes. I blinked a few times as the bright light bothered my eyes.

"What the Hell happened?"I asked trying to sit up. I immediately stopped as soon as a sharp pain went to my stomach.

"We don't know yet. Your parents are upstairs talking to mine." he said not taking his eyes off of me as he had a frown on his face. He was holding my hand tightly as if he was afraid I would disappear. It was understandable why this would scare him, me and everyone. Vampires don't get hurt like this or at all. Vampires can get hurt by a silver stake being stabbed through there heart, Thats it. You only feel any pain when your dying. So there was only one thing everyone could assume right now. I wasn't going to lie I was scared as hell. I was born as vampire so I have never experienced any type of pain.

"Charlotte! Glad to see your awake!"The doctor said walking into the room I just stared at him blankly.

"I'm Eric, I'll be your doctor. How are you feeling?" He asked me while writing a few things on a piece of paper on a brown clipboard.

"I'm sore and my stomach is in pain every time I move." I answered truthfully.

"Charlotte. My baby your okay!" My mother said running towards me in her vampire speed but stopping right before she hit the bed. My father walked in behind her along with a man and women who I can only guess is Drew's parents.

"Can you please explain to all of us what happened?" My father asked with a worried look.

"I don't even know. I was in the car with Drew yesterday..or. Wait what's today?" I asked realizing I don't know how long I've been out.

"You have only been out for about a day in a half its December 3. " Drew said rubbing his thumb on my hand in a calming, soothing matter.

"Well the other day when I was in the car with Drew I just felt this sharp pain in my stomach. It was as if a stake was being repeatedly stabbed in my stomach." I said. I was pretty sure the look on everyone's face resembled mine. Worry.

"Charlotte." My Mother said slowly as if she just realized something. "Did you feel this pain at around I don't know 2 o'clock maybe 3?" She asked and I nodded

"It was around 3 when she started screaming." Drew said with a frown on his face. I gave him a small smile and he just gave me a sad one in return.

"Oh no. Oh no. We should of known Charles. How could we be so stupid. We should of known they would of been connected somehow. " Mother said shaking her head as she paced back an forth.

"If you know what is wrong with Charlotte I must know." Eric said and my mother glared at him.

"Eric! Watch your mouth. You should know who you are talking to." Drew's mother hissed at him.

"I'm sorry your majesty." Eric said apologetically but everyone ignored him.

"Selena died the same day you felt this pain. She was stabbed multiples times in the stomach and then got her head cut off." My mother said sadly.

"Who is Selena and what does she have to do with this?" Drew asked confused.

"The witch." I answered speaking more to myself. Mother nodded though anyways.

"Selena is the witch that put a spell on Charlotte to hide her true identity." Father answered with a hard look."It would make since for you to feel her pain of dying, you two were connected in a way because of that spell. I can easily tell that the spell is gone completely now that she is dead."

"When will this pain go away?" I asked sadly as I thought about Selena.

"Well you are still a vampire... stronger than any of us so I say by the end of the day you should be fine. The wounds are probably healing already." Mother answered and I heard Drew sigh in relief.

"I'm sorry I was hoping to meet you two in a different scenery." I said apologetically to Drew's parents.

"Oh sweetie shush! It is more important for you to get better. Drew has been worried sick about you growling at doctors and threatening his own mother." Drew's mom said and I have her a small before glaring at Drew I smacked his hand and he just smiled innocently.

"I was worried." He said honestly and I rolled my eyes.

"Who knew you were such a baby." I said and his parents chucked.

"Oh how could we be so rude! I'm Janet and this is Thomas. But you can call me Jan and him Tom." Janet, Drew's mom said.

"It's nice to meet you." I said politely.

"Princess Charlotte, I hope you don't mind but in order to see if anythings healing were going to need to get you in sit in position." Doctor Eric said and I frowned but nodded. Eric stepped forward and I looked at Drew then his hand and he sighed before reluctantly letting go. He stepped away next to his parents and Eric walked forward.

"We're going to take this nice an slow for you. Madison can you help me." Eric yelled and a nurse can in quickly. "Okay we're going to slowly move the bed up and as the bed goes up you body will move up causing a pull in your lower stomach.If you start to feel any pain lets us know." I nodded and got ready to try sitting up. The bed slowly started to move up and I gasped at the sharp pain that appeared in my stomach. Drew was at my side in less than a second and he was quickly glaring at the doctor who has now stopped the bed movement. After about a minute or two the pain subsided.

"Okay we're only going to move you up about another 3 inches and you'll to do it the rest." Madison said and I nodded. They started moving the bed slowly and luckily only a little pain came. When the bed went up about 3 inches try stopped and walked over to me.

"We are going to need you to lean forward as much as you can sweetie an we will help you the rest of the way. Were going to help you so your sitting on the side." Madison said. I leaned forward a few inches and tried not to hiss at the pain that started in my stomach. Drew had to let go of my hand again and had to return to his parents side again, doctors orders. Madison grabbed my left arm and Doctor Eric grabbed my right. They both slowly moved my legs so they were on the side and then they pulled me up in a fast motion causing me to hiss in pain. Drew was once again at my side in less than a second but this time Doctor Eric was on the other side of the room on the floor. Madison was also but she managed to land on a bed. Drew stood protectively in front of me hissing at the nurse and doctor.

"I like this boy." Father whispered to my mother and I rolled my eyes. Doctor Eric just stayed on the floor not wanting to upset Drew anymore. When Drew seen no one was going to move he stood up straight and turned towards me.

"Are you okay?"He asked me his red eyes going back to there normal green color.

"I'm fine. You need to calm down and stop being so protective." I said and he sighed running his right hand through his blond hair.

"Sorry. I'm in a very emotional state right now." Drew said taking my left hand again and I nodded understanding.

"Drew Parker emotional? Are we talking about the same person? You know the leader of the 'It' boys who always is so arrogant and always has a smirk on that handsome face of his." I said and he smirked. I noticed the room was quiet beside us talking and no one was in the room.

"I always knew you would one day fall for my amazingly handsome sexy charms.The doctors say its impossible not to." He said and I laughed.

"Well I guess the doctors may be right." I said slowly as my right hand grabbed the back of his neck and brought his head closer.

"Oh?" He said. I noticed his voice became a lot deeper and his eyes seemed to darken a little. He brought his lips to mine and I smiled at the heat that erupted in my body. It felt like fireworks were going off in my stomach and I don't mean that in a bad way either. I forgot all about this pain in my stomach as he tried to deepen the kiss. I kept my mouth clothes though and smirked a little when he groaned. I felt his fang touch my lip and this time I groaned. I pulled back though due to that fact that this was an infirmary. His eyes were a dark green and his fangs were visible.

"Charlie, you can't do that to me." Drew said and I let out a giggle and pushed him away.

"Can you get me a cup of blood? I'm feeling a little but hungry." I asked and Drew groaned.

"Me too." He said trying to lean in for another kiss. I turned my head so his lips went to my cheeks.

"I was being serious Mr. Parker." I said and he sighed.

"I'll have someone bring you a cup down. I'm going to go take a shower." He said and I nodded. He gave me a kiss on my forehead before walking out of the room. As soon as the door shut behind him I started to think about what has happened. First, I find out that Drew is my soulmate that just so happens to also be a vampire.Then, Selena dies causing the spell on me to disappear. I gasped quietly as I realized that now that Selena is dead I'm in a lot more trouble. It's only a matter of time before the council finds me.

Chapter Fourteen

It's been a week since Selena died. I ended up healing after about two days. My family and I have been staying at Drew's place this whole week which of course I don't have problem with.But my parents are becoming irritable, they don't like staying in another families house.

"Hey babe." Drew said wrapping his arms around my waist from behind me as he gave me a quick pecked on my neck.

"You know Mr.Parker you have been very touchy and lovey ever since you found out that I am a vampire." I said raising one of my perfectly plucked eyebrows as I look at him.

"That's because I can now let everyone know that you are mine and I can hug you and kiss you without you questioning my motives." Drew said and I rolled my eyes.

"That hasn't changed, I still question your motivates." I said winking at him before moving out of his arms.

"Charlotte." My mother called me and I headed into the throne room that belonged to Drew's family.

"Yes mother?" I asked her walking up next to her.

"We'll give you two a minute. Come Drew give them a moment." Drew's mother said ushering her husband and Drew out of the room into some door.

"We will be leaving now." My mother said and I frowned.

"Is it safe to go back home?" I asked and she sighed shaking her head. I noticed she looked sad about something. I looked at my father to see him looking tired and sad too.

"Is there something wrong?" I asked and my father shared a look with my mother before turning his head back to me.

"Charlotte, dear you can't stay here any longer you are going to have to change countries. So you can have a whole new vampire council that won't know a thing about you." He said causing my eyes to widen.

"What? No. I refuse to go. you think I would leave Drew." I said furiously. "He is my soulmate mother!"

"I know sweetie but we are only doing this for your own good."My mother said and I laughed a sarcastic laugh and glared at my parents.

"I can't believe you two out of everyone would have the audacity to do that! I mean taking me away from my soulmate for my own good. I can handle the council if I have to. If its a fight to death they want then its a fight they will get!" I said stubbornly.

"We already got a plane for you.You are riding with the humans so everything looks normal and nothing suspicious." Father said trying to leave no room for argument. Key word, trying.

"Wait a second. Your sending me off alone?!" I asked appalled realizing what they were completely saying.

"We have cities of vampires to take care of. We don't have time to take you somewhere else dear. If we did we would have to give up the throne. Royalty has ran in my ancestors for century's after century's Charlotte, I can't give all that up now. I would be a disappointment to my mother." My mother said and I just shook my head in disgust.

"You're selfish." I sneered, my fangs started to grow because of my anger and my father hissed making me back down a little.

"Don't talk to your mother that way." He said.

"I'm not selfish Charlotte. I'm doing this for you." She said and I laughed again sarcastically.

"Yes mother. Of course your doing this for me. As much as I love you both I don't approve of this situation if you think Drew will also be happy about me moving to a different country you are wrong." I hissed back.

"Janet and Thomas, Drew's parents have already agreed to have Drew go with you to Paris. This is only temporarily till all of this calms down." My father said calmly.

"Yes. So how long is temporarily? A month? A Year? A decade? a century?" I asked harshly and my father let out another hiss.

"Charlotte! Don't forget who we are. We may be your parents but we will Not. Except you speaking to us the way you are." Father snapped and I sighed defeatedly.

"I'm sorry, I have friends here. I don't want to just drop my whole life just because the council is after me." I said crossing my arms over my chest.

"You going to have to if you want to stay safe!" My mom said and I scoffed.

"I'm not leaving. If the council wants a fight. Then a fight they will get." I told my parents determinedly. My parents both let out a irritated sigh showing that they are both obviously upset.

"We are not starting a war. You're going to France and that's final." My father said and I scoffed.

"No it's not."I said before walking away frustrated. My mom called my name trying to get me to stop but I didn't listen and walked out of the doors.

It only took about 3 minutes till the guilt set it for talking to my parents that way. In their eyes I have always been the perfect child,always doing my school work and doing my duties as a princess which was basically just attending a few meeting secretly.This had to of been odd to them to this reaction out of me. I let out a frustrated sigh while sitting down on the couch.

"Charlie? Are you okay?" Drew asked me and I gave him a small sad smile.

"My parents want me to leave. They went to send me off to Paris." I said sadly. Drew's soft expression Immediately turned to a furious one.

"You are not leaving me!" He said glaring as he started to pace back and fourth.

"They said your parents agreed to let you come along for a while." I said and he sighed.

"How long?" He asked me. His glaring disappeared and his soft look reappeared as he looked at me.

"I don't know." I responded resting my head on the back of the nice white sofa while closing my eyes.

"Well lets just think of it as a early honeymoon."I opened my eyes for a moment only to see Drew also wink which caused me to scoff and shut my eyes again.

"For all you and I know I may have to live their. Forever. " I said and he shook his head.

"That's not happening."Drew said seriously while sitting down next to me and pulling me on his lap. I leaned my head on his chest and sighed.

"Charlotte, We had Rose drop of your stuff here its waiting in the taxi out front, so get going." My father demanded and I rolled my eyes.

"Yes sir." I said mockingly before getting off Drew's laugh. I went to look at Drew again only to see him gone. My eyebrows furrowed as I looked around the living room. As I exited the Living room Drew came down with two suitcases.

"Lets go." Drew said and I nodded.

"Goodbye sweetie." My father said trying to give me a hug but I quickly dodged it.

"If you think your going to seriously hug me then your wrong. You don't deserve a hug due to the fact that your sending me to France!" I said letting out a hiss and my father sighed.

"I had a feeling you were going to say something like that. Well then goodbye Charlotte. I hope you know me and your mother are sorry." He said and I rolled my eyes walking to the front door and opening it. I bit my lip to hold back from saying something harsh and just walked out the door with Drew following me from behind.

"Ready for the honeymoon." Drew winked at me before putting his bag in the trunk. I gave him a small smile knowing he was only trying to lighten up my mood.We both got in the car and shut the door.

"To the airport right?" A guy who looked to be in his early thirties asked an I nodded. After a while we got to the airport and soon we were off on our way to France.

Chapter Fifteen

~Charlotte's POV-

"Bonjour! Je m'appelle Matthew. Et toi?" (Hello! My name is Matthew and you?) Our driver asked us once we arrived in Paris.

"Je m'appelle Drew et Elle s'appelle Charlotte. Enchanté." (My name is Drew and her name is Charlotte. It's very nice to meet you.) Drew said trying to end the conversation.

"Tu parles l'anglais?" (Do you speak English?)

"Oui, Nous parlons L'anglais assez bien." (Yes, We speak English rather well.) Drew said rolling his eyes.

"Oh finally! Everytime I'm assigned a job all they speak is French." The driver Matthew said and Drew scoffed causing me to elbow him.

"Be nice." I whispered to him so only he could hear.

"Yea, well that is apart of living in France. Did you grow up in America?" I asked him and he nodded.

"I've only lived in France for 4 years." He told me.

"What? Just to be a personal driver to people?" Drew mumbled an I sent him a glare.

"Well that's great! Actually you can just drop us off at this nice hotel here." I told Matthew pointing to the tall flashing hotel on the corner and he nodded smiling at me through the mirror.

"Well Merci!" (Thanks) I said once he handed us our bags and he flashed another smile making Drew's glare deepen.

"À Votre service." (You're welcome.) He said before getting back in the car.

"Good riddance." Drew said with a disgusted look as he didn't hesitate to head into the hotel. After he got us a room we turned around only to bump into someone making me gasp.

"Sorry!"I told the man quickly and he flashed me a charming smile.I gasped again realizing he probably didn't understand me.

"Désolé!" I corrected quickly.

"Its okay I speak English and its fine I know you didn't mean to. I'm Thomas but you can call me Tom." He told me kissing my hand. Drew let out a very noticeable hiss an snatched my hand out of his.

"Back off she's mine." Drew told the guy and he rolled his eyes before flashing me another smile.

"Sorry man. I didn't realize, it seems you haven't set your claim on her yet." He said to Drew and Drew frowned before snatching our room key out of the ladies hand and grabbing my hand before walking off.

"He was a vampire." I said stating the obvious and he glared at me.

"I noticed." He said stepping into the elevator with me right behind him. I stood up on my tip toes and whispered in his ear,

"Drew don't be so possessive. Even though I find it extremely sexy, He wasn't even cute. I only have eyes for you." I told him before getting off my tip toes. Drew smirked and pushed me against the wall.

"I better be the only man you have eyes for." He said in my ear making sure to let on of his fangs touch my ear making me shiver. The elevator door dinged making Drew step away from me and grab are bags walking off. I quickly grabbed the last bag he didn't grab and rush after him. I didn't use my vampire speed since humans were everywhere in this hotel. When Drew stopped in front of a room and unlocked the door I was surprised to see how beautiful it was.

"I've never been in a hotel, who knew it could look so elegant!" I said to no one in particularly.

"Glad you like it since its where we will be living till your parents are my parents say its safe to come home." Drew said setting down the bags to the side.

"Well we will just have to make the most of our time in France them. Lets go sight seeing I said already pulling Drew out of the room.

Chapter Sixteen

Living in France has been nice this past year except for the fact that I miss home. I miss Jasmina ,Melanie, Ashlyn and Chloe. They all probably hate me since I just left without a goodbye not that I had much of a choice. They all have tried calling multiple times but I just couldn't answer since I just wasn't aloud. I could tell Drew obviously missed home also but he was trying to hide it from me. He probably missed all of his friends also plus his parents. I know I missed my parents.They were rarely aloud to contact me. I have talked to them once this year and that was for less than five minutes,all they told me was that they couldn't take the chance of the council tracing their calls and finding me. I have tried to call them but it only says the number is unavailable and is no longer in device.

"What's wrong?" Drew asked me as he came and sat by me on the couch.

"Just thinking." I told him trying to keep any emotion from my voice and he frowned.

"Maybe it's time to go back Charlie. You have been looking like a zombie." Drew told me and I gave him a ghost smile.

"I'm sorry." I told him and he just sighed.

"Don't apologize now just get your shoes on. I've already booked the flight and packed our bags." Drew told me standing up and I sighed.

"Why? You know we can't go back yet." I responded and he just shook his head.

"I can't stand to see you like this anymore! You've been like this for weeks now Charlotte.If not weeks then months! You don't even sleep anymore!" Drew yelled and I rolled my eyes.

"Vampires don't need sleep." I said trying to give him a smirk and lighten the mood but I just ended up failing terribly.

"Yes we don't need sleep but in order to stay perfectly healthy we must have sleep at least once a month plus have human blood once every two weeks.You may be a royal Pureblood vampire but that doesn't mean you can stare yourself. This little animal blood strike you have been going on is not working for you! We are not some vegetarians we need human blood to survive so enough! I want my Charlie back! I want my joyful sassy smart ass Charlie back!" He told me looking sad. I couldn't help but feel guilty as I realized what I probably put him through these past two months.

"When's the flight?" I asked him standing up and he sighed sounding relieved.

"In 30 minutes." Drew said with a small smile on his face.

"Well them what are we waiting on.We have a airport to get to." I said slipping on my black flats.

"Yes we do." He said into my ear once he pulled me into a hug. He picked up our bags and we headed downstairs not even bothering to take the elevator. We set the room keys on the counter and quickly payed making sure to leave a tip.

"Merci." I told the girl and she smiled.

"A votre service." She said waving.

Getting to Drews' house both of us were surprised at the sight that greeted us. Their was a party going on.

"Drew, man your back." A guy I recognized as Keith said pulling Drew in a man hug.

"What's going on?" I asked.

"We're celebrating." Keith replied and Drew raised an eyebrow.

"Care to elaborate?" Drew asked handing our bags to two maids who walked over.

"We're celebrating Alexith and his new found soulmate!"Keith said handing us to drinks.

"In my house?" He asked and Keith shrugged.

"Your parents said it was cool." He told us and Drew frowned and I rolled my eyes patting his arm.

"Lets just enjoy and celebrate with them!" I told him and he sighed but nodded.

"I'm going to change do you want to too?" He asked me moving his eyebrows up and downed and I rolled my eyes.

"I'm good." I told him and he pouted but headed upstairs. I didn't have to wear a short party dress all I simply needed was a pair of jeans and a shirt and I'm good.

"So your a vampire too?" Keith asked me and I nodded.

"How long?" He asked me.

"482 years old." I told him and he smirked.

"You're older then Drew."He stated." That probably bothers him."

"He'll get over it." I replied looking around to see Chloe, April and Mandy in the corner. My eyes widened as I looked at them they all looked different.

"Chloe and the others are here? How did they even get here? Isn't it vampires only? How can they even see the house?" I questioned confused.

"Yea they're here. Its not like Maplewood though.Humans and Vampires can go through here no problem. They just see this as a huge house or mansion." Keith said taking a sip of his drink.

"It's like a castle and what do they think they're at? " I replied dryly. How could they just throw a party with so many humans.

"They just think they're really rich and just at a party." He told me and I nodded. I told him I would be back and headed over to the girls.

"Chloe? Is that you?!" I questioned and Chloe looked over at me and dropped her drink running over and giving me a hug.

"Damn C! Where on earth have you been?!" She asked me.

"France. I had a family emergency." I said and she rolled her eyes and stepped back crossing her arms.

"Family emergency? With Drew?" She asked me and I bite my lip nervously.

"Possibly?" I said making it sound more like a question. I was worried knowing that Chloe liked him before we left.

"Was it fun?"She asked me dragging me over to a table.

"Yes..."I said trailing off. "Do you still like Drew?" I asked her awkwardly and she laughed.

"No after a few days I was over him. I mean he is definitely hot but he is not like Caleb." She responded and my eyes widened.

"Caleb? One of the ex 'It' boys?" I questioned and she nodded.

"Yes,I never realized how sweet he is C." Chloe told me.

"Is this the same Chloe Taylor that would only date the head 'It' boy." I asked and she laughed.

"No, while you disappeared this past year I grew up over Summer time and decided it's my last year of HighSchool I want to make it the best. We're all seniors now and I refuse to be that girl that everyone thinks is a whore." She told me and I nodded and gave her a hug.

"I'm happy for you Chlo!" I told her pulling away giving her a smile.

"Yea but either way I'm still that head 'It' girl that everyone looks up too after all I am still the hottest." She told me flipping her hair dramatically and I laughed.

"That you are." Caleb said and I gave him a smile.

"Hello Caleb. How are you?" I asked him.

"Wonderful now that I have this babe." Caleb answered and Chloe giggled. I was suddenly pulled up and pulled into another hug.

"How could you not tell me you were back! Where have you been this past year? Why didn't you inform me you were leaving? When did you get here? But before you answer all of that first answer why wasn't I the first one informed?!" Jasmina asked shaking me and I laughed taking her hands off of my arms.

"I went France for a while. Family emergency." I told her and Chloe snorted from behind me,

"A family emergency all right. It was a family emergency that involved her and Drew." Chloe said and I rolled my eyes at her with a small smile on my face.

"Well whatever it was who cares, now your back so give me a hug!" Ashlyn said giving me a hug.

"So many hugs today I feel so loved." I teased and they all flashed me a smile.

"You're loved and everyone missed you." Ash told me.

"I missed all of you too." I told them and April decided to join the conversation.

"You know we always have your back C which is why when this new girl moved here and tried to park in your spot we made sure to give her a long talk an explain to her it was yours." April told me and I let out a small laugh. At least she tried to show she missed me some what.

"Uh Thanks April. In France I learned you can pronounce your name, avril." I told her and she repeated it.

"Sounds cool." She nodded her head before going back to talking to the guy next to her and chewing her gum. Some things never change.

"Oh Drew what a surprise?! We were just talking about you!" Ashlyn said suddenly and we all gave her a questioning look not knowing what she was talking about.

"We were?" I asked and Ashlyn nodded.

No we weren't." Jasmina said and Ashlyn elbowed her side.

"Yes we were. We were talking about how-" Ashlyn started but Drew cut her off.

"I'm sorry I really need to speak to Charlotte right now." Drew said and Ashlyn just nods and gestures for me to go. My eyebrows furrowed, he called me Charlotte something's wrong.

"Drew? What's wrong? We just got back." I asked and he sighed bringing me to the kitchen where a couple was making out.

"Get out." Drew demanded and the couple continued to go at it causing Drew to let out a irritated sigh. He walked over and pulled the couple apart.

"What the hell?" The guy said after wiping the lipstick from his lips.

"Get out." He repeated and the guy rolled his eyes and walked out bumping his shoulder with Drew's before leaving with the girl right behind him. Drew was about to go after him but I quickly grabbed his arm.

"Drew? What is going on?" I asked and Drew took a envelope out of his pocket handing it to me, I looked at him for a second before looking down at the envelope that read my name.

"What is this?" I asked still looking at the white envelope with black cursive writing.

"I was told a vampire dropped it off." Drew replied. I turned the envelope around and ripped it open. Taking out the paper I noted how old it looked.

"It was definitely vampires,"I thought out loud and read the note quietly to myself,

---

Dear Charlotte,

Welcome home! The Council is very happy to see you back home in Seattle! We would really love to finally meet you, alone. Maplewood on Sunday at the 18th hour. Don't be late.

Sincerely,

The Council

Chapter Seventeen

I sat at bench in Maplewood's park just as they said and glared fiercely at ground. I was irritated the council was hours late it was almost midnight and I was about ready to leave. Standing up I grabbed my purse but was pushed back down and a body was sitting next to me.

" No one told me you would be so beautiful." A guy said picking up a piece of my brown hair.

" Who are you?" I asked pushing his hand away from my hair.

" The names Auguste De Pompadour. It's nice to meet you. " He said kissing my hand flashing me a smile-showing off his fangs. I could hear a French accent making me wonder if he was a vampire born in France since he has a French name.

" I'm guessing Melissa sent you." I said more as a stamens then a question.

" Yes. She didn't know if you were actually going to come. Its nice to finally meet the hidden Princess. Don't worry your parents will get a very painful punishment for hiding you just like that witch did. What was her name again oh yes, Selena. Her screams and cries were heard all through the village. " Auguste said smirking as if he was remembering her cries. I glared at him disgusted and shook my head.

" I won't let you touch my parents." I said and he bit his lip looking at me amused and I knew my eyes were turning a dark purple color.

" I was waiting for that to happen. I thought it was only a rumor that this happens when Pureblood Royal vampires get mad but it seems the books did not lie." Auguste said letting his finger move down the side of my face brushing a piece of hair away to the side. My stomach clenched at this and I was disgusted with how my face seemed to warm up at the simplest touch. Auguste smirked at this and let out a dark laugh that would make someone's skin crawl.

" What do you want with me? You all know I'm here so what is it you want from us?" I demanded but Auguste didn't answer and only smiled.

" Shh we can focus on that later. I'm enjoying myself right now. I haven't seen a royal Pureblood vampire in years. He told me but let out a disappointed sigh.

" You're very powerful that I knew but it seems you aren't as powerful as they make your kind seem in books. I was thinking you would be immune to my ability but I guess not."

" What are you talking about." I was always immune to everyone's ability. What is his ability?

" I know you feel your body warming up to my touch. Your body will eventually crave for my touch over time." Auguste said smiling as his hand trailed down my arm and my eyebrows furrowed.

" What's your ability?" I asked him pushing his arm away not liking that he was right.

"Well unlike all vampires I don't have a beloved. " He told me not sounding sad at all and avoiding my question as he leaned his right arm on the back of the bench staring at me in the eyes as his left hand now sat in his lap as his body was turned to face me. "I was born with special abilities just like you." He told me and I frowned wondering how that was possible. Apart of me knew he was a strong vampire, stronger than the council but he was not a Royal Pureblood vampire. " You look so cute trying to figure out what I am." He put his thumb on my bottom lip and licked his lips. " Lets see those fangs of yours." He looked straight into my eyes and I noticed his light blue eyes turn darker and I automatically let my fangs show not even thinking about it. His blue eyes swirled with black giving him a dangerous look.

" Answer my question from earlier, what do you want from me?" I demanded narrowing my eyes and once again pushing his hand away.

" What I want is different from what Melissa wants she just wants you to join the council, she wants control of you. She feels you are below her." He answered shrugging letting his eyes look over the park.

" What do you want?" I couldn't help but ask and his blue eyes quickly met my brown ones.

" I think you already know the answer to that." Auguste said flashing a dark devious smile. " You have till next week to give us an answer. We won't hurt your parents if you agree to Melissa's terms. " He handed me a white envelope. " Just give me a call when you decide." He stood up making his way towards the woods but paused when I used my vampire speed - stopping in front of him.

" How will I contact you?" I asked a little breathless but not from coming over to him but for being so close and he stepped closer to me so I could feel his cold breath on my lips and said,

" All you have to do is say my name but I have a feeling you will be calling my name before you have your answer." He was gone not even a second later and my eyebrows furrowed. Thoughts of Drew filled my head again and my eyes widened and I quickly headed over to the bench again picking up my purse and taking out my phone.

" Charlotte." Drew said as soon as he answered the phone sounding worried. " Are you okay?"

" Yes, I'm on my way back home. Meet me at my house." I told him and he agreed right away.

~.~.~

" Why didn't you answer your phone? I called you fifty times." Drew said pulling me into his arms the second I arrived he stiffened and pulled away.

" Why do you smell like another man?" He asked his worried face turned cold.

" Melissa sent a guy to talk to me. " I told him but his cold look didn't disappear as he stared at me with anger in his eyes.

" Why is his scent all of you?" He asked me through gritted teeth.

" He tried to bring me with him back to the council." I lied, for some reason I couldn't bring myself to tell him the truth that I let Auguste touch my arms and face it was like I would be betraying Auguste if I did. Why did I care if I was betraying him? Drew pulled me back in his arms and let small feathered kisses all over my face and down my neck and arms.

" I'll kill him if he touches you again." He said before pressing his lips to mine and I melted into the kiss and wrapped my arms around his neck as he wrapped his around my waist. Even while I was wrapped in Drew's arms one name seemed to be stuck in the back of my head, Auguste De Pompadour. What was wrong with me?

Chapter Eighteen

I started to wake up to the feeling of someone's lips on my skin. Before I opened my eyes the feeling stopped, thinking I imagined I tried to let sleep take over again. Kisses went down my neck and across my collarbone my body automatically responded by heating up. I didn't open my eyes and enjoyed the feeling. A dark chuckle sounded throughout my room making me freeze. The lips made their way back up to my neck and I opened my eyes to see a body hovering over me. His brown hair looked the same as it did earlier and he was still wearing a black shirt that clung to him showing off his muscles and abs. His eyes that were closed opened and beautiful blue eyes that were mixed with black pierced into my own. He brought his head to by my ear and whispered,

" I expected you to call me eventually but not so soon. It seems someone is already craving my touch." He whispered his cold breath soothing my warm skin. His fangs touched my ear making me let out a small moan. Why was I reacting like this? He pulled back and his blue eyes seemed to only get darker. His jaw was clenched as he stared at me like he was looking through my soul.

" I didn't call you." I said breathlessly and he chuckled.

" Oh but you did, Charlotte. Your body was calling out to mine, your thoughts were clouded with me. I'm not surprised you called out to me while sleeping. I didn't think you would call out to me during the day with that soulmate of yours." He whispered in my ear placing a light, feather kiss right underneath. I couldn't think straight as my body was screaming for him to bite me. " Don't worry though I'll take care of him for you." His hands moved down my curves and stopped at my thighs where my pajamas ended. I was stupid to wear my white pajama set tonight which was just a pair of white shorts and a white tank-tops that was lace at the top with no bra. I wasn't one to wear a bra to bed but I was considering it now.

" I -" I started but Auguste cut me off placing his index finger on my lips.

" Shh. Don't talk." He said placing a kiss on the side of my lips as his hand moved up under my shirt. My body felt as if it was on fire and my breaths came out short.

His lips went on mine and I moaned at the feeling. It was a feeling I never experienced before. I didn't notice my fangs growing and peeking out of my lips. " I would love to claim you but that soulmate wouldn't be to happy." He said before reconnecting his lips with mine.

" Why am I feeling like this?" I asked him in between kisses.

" The prophecy." Auguste said his French accent thick, moving his lips across my jaw and down my neck. He stopped at the spot before my collarbone and place a long kiss there making me gasp at the feeling.

" What prophecy?" I breathed out trying to ignore the feeling of bliss.

" Their is a prophecy made about us, Charlotte. One you will have to look up yourself." He told me before his fangs pierced my skin my back arched and I moaned lightly feeling like I was on cloud nine. A groan sounded in the back of his throat as my blood entered his mouth. I moved my head to the side giving him more access. My alarm went off for school and Auguste pulled back angry and grabbed the alarm - throwing it across the room. He licked my neck making the holes in my neck disappear. His eyes looked straight into mine, you could barley see the blue now it seemed that his eyes were just pitch black.

" You're so beautiful." He murmured tucking my hair behind my ear. "I want you to not speak a word of this to your soulmate." He ordered looking straight into my eyes and I nodded my head and let my hand touch his face. I let my nails touch his perfect jaw line and smiled.

"And you're so handsome." I murmured and he gave me a sad smile.

" If you didn't find your soulmate then this would be ten times easier." He said his eyes slowly going back to the beautiful light blue color they originally are.

"I won't wish that I never met Drew. I love him. He was born for me as I for him." I said and he scowled.

" The prophecy was made decades before any of us were born. All prophecies were made by the first vampire you know that." He said grabbing my hand that was touching his face and held it placing a kiss on it.

"Please don't force me to keep this secret from Drew. The guilt will eat me alive for as long as I live." I told him and his eyes turned cold.

" You will not tell him." He snarled his blue eyes turned darker and I glared at him.

" You will not keep ordering me around." I hissed throwing him back making him hit the wall.

" Charlotte? Dear are you okay? Why is your door locked?" My mother asked me sounding worried.

" I'm just getting ready." I told her glaring fiercely at Auguste.

" I have a soulmate, a beloved. Drew is all I need. I don't know what you're doing to me but it needs to stop." I told him getting off my bed and heading to my closet when I turned my head I seen my window was open and Auguste was gone. My body finally started to cool down causing me to let out a sigh of relief. Since I took a shower last night I just slipped on a pair of white jeans with a skinny red belt and a white shirt with a red blazer over top. I grabbed a pair of red heels and changed my old purse to a red purse. You can never go wrong with matching. I quickly went to the bathroom and did my business before brushing my teeth. I stared back at my reflection in the mirror not knowing what to do with my hair.

" You should leave it down." A voice whispered moving my hair to the side and leaving a butterfly kiss on the spot right underneath my ear. My body started to warm up making me feel as if I was in the sun. Knowing exactly who it is I didn't turn around and instead looked at my reflection and his.

" This is the prophecy." Auguste told me setting a dark red book with gold writing on it on my dresser.

" Its Latin with some Italian." I told him letting my hand touch the book. The book opened by itself and the pages started to turn.

" Only certain parts." He responded. I watched as pages stopped turning stopping on a gold page. The top of the page read, 'The prophecy of The Royal Pureblood and The Hybrid.' I was about to comment that this could be anyone but before I could he shook his head.

" Just read it out loud." I grabbed the book and my way over to my bed and sat down. The Latin turned into English as soon as I touched the page. Reading the words out loud, " The Royal Pureblood, Charlotte Faye will find her soulmate, Drew Parker at age 482. Although soul mates are suppose to be born for each other these two were not. " I paused not wanting to go on.

" Just keep reading." Auguste said softly.

" The first hybrid, of a Royal Pureblood Vampire and a wolf, Auguste De Pompadour, will be Charlotte Faye's mate. The first time Auguste makes eye contact with Charlotte his wolf, Axel will recognize her as his mate. But his royal Pureblood Vampire side will recognize her as his adorato, his beloved. Charlotte will be the one whom he has a immediate connection with. The connection will develop more over time and the two shall experience love so deep, intense and powerful they will think they've never loved anyone prior to one another. Charlotte will have the choice between her soulmate Drew or her beloved Auguste. If she picks Drew, her soulmate then she will always feel like she is missing someone. If she picks Auguste, her beloved then she will feel as if she is whole and will live a peaceful and happy life. If the Royal Pureblood and The Hybrid follow their instincts then they shall eventually use their power and take over the council creating a world that is peaceful for vampires. The two will have a large battle ahead of them but in the end it should go well. The Royal Pureblood and The Hybrid will only bring great, satisfying things in the future. If the two follow their instincts when they claim each other by biting one another and giving their blood then Drew will be released from the bond and will realize that he has a beloved somewhere waiting for him. Though if Charlotte and Auguste don't get together and Charlotte chooses Drew not even I am certain what will come. But I can sense it will horrendous .

André Bellemare

I didn't look at Auguste but I knew he was still next to me as I could feel his gaze on the side of my face. I didn't know how I was feeling about finding out Drew wasn't actually my beloved and technically he isn't my soulmate.

" I need some space." I said softly and I felt the bed go up a little as he stood up.

" Call me when you're ready to talk." Auguste said as I felt his cold breath on my cheek a soft lingering kiss was left before he was gone.

" Charlotte." My mother called and I quickly shut the book and set it underneath my pillow and stood up walking over to my door unlocking it.

" Yes, mother? " I asked opening my door.

" Are you sure you're ready go back to school? " She asked me worried and I nodded.

" I missed my whole Junior year I'm pretty sure I'm ready." I told her and she let out a small sigh.

" Okay well do your hair, have your breakfast and go because you're running very late." She told me before heading downstairs. Doing what she said I put my hair in large bouncy curls and applied a little bit of makeup. I finished my glass of blood that Rose brought up and left for school. One thought lingered in my head the whole way to school. How am I suppose to tell Drew about the prophecy?

Chapter Nineteen

I watched as Drew paced around my bedroom after reading the prophecy his hands pulling on his hair. " This can't be real."

" I'm sorry." I said softly my heart clenching.

" This prick did something! I know it. You are my soulmate, my beloved I don't give a damn what that fake prophecy says." Drew said

"The prophecy had to much information they're supposed to be like cryptic." I agreed, Drew hissed and threw the book across the room. The book stopped in air stopping it from hitting the wall and slowly lowered itself to the ground.

" There is only one way to find out if it is real or not." I said and he nodded already knowing what it is.

" We have to go to the council." Drew pulled me close to him and left a butterfly kiss on my neck.

" You're mine, Charlie as I am yours." He whispered in my ear his warm breath tickling my ear. His fangs grew and he rubbed his nose along my throat signaling he was going to bite me. The second his fangs pierced through my throat he hissed flying back across he room his back on the opposite wall of the room as he quickly wiped off the blood on his fangs.

" Drew! Are you okay?" I said over by his side faster than a blink of an eye.

" That ass did something to you!" Drew hissed.

" Oh please like I would do something to my beloved." A voice asked we both looked over at the sound of the voice to see Auguste laying on my bed his back against the headboard.

" So you're the famous soulmate I've heard nothing about." Auguste said and Drew hissed trying to go punch him but Auguste quickly moved across the room behind me. Drew went to hit him again but he easily moved out of the way. I could see that Auguste wasn't expecting Drew to kick him right after as he went flying hitting the wall making a large crack. Drew's hands were around his throat in less than a second.

" I should snap your neck." Drew hissed and Auguste laughed.

"Well you obviously read the prophecy so you what I am. You snapping my neck will only give me a simple cramp in the neck. Unlike you I am not a pathetic Royal vampire." Drew's eyes turned red and he threw him across the room causing another crack.

" Auguste, Drew stop fighting! Please!" I begged but Drew went over and punched Auguste in the nose. Auguste fought back this time and punched him straight in the cheek. Drew stumbled back a few step but they didn't stop their as Drew's foot went up trying to hit Auguste's face but he moved to fast making him only hit air.

" You two please stop!" I begged hating to see them fight. Auguste kicked Drew's chest making him fly across the room. Drew's boy went straight through the wall to outside.

" Drew!" I yelled running out and jumping. I landed straight on my feet and used my speed and stood by him now checking to make sure he is okay. He stood up watching the hole in my bedroom wall. I looked up and watched as Auguste made the 16 ft jump landing perfectly on his feet. Like a cat getting his prey he took slow steps with a challenging look in his blue eyes that had black swirling in them. When Auguste was only a few feet away ready to fight I closed my eyes and used my ability to hold then against two trees away from each other.

" You two need to get along! " I hissed.

" He's the one that attacked me!" Auguste said and Drew struggled trying to get out.

" You just kicked him through a wall!" I said and Auguste laughed, " True."

" I think everyone needs to calm down." I said and Auguste looked at me for a minute before his black eyes turned back to there normal blue. I looked at Drew to see his eyes still red. I released my hold on Auguste and he came so his chest was by my back.

" It's nice to see you listened to me this morning and left your hair down." Auguste said setting his head on my shoulder.

" Why was he here this morning?" Drew asked, hurt evident in his tone. I went to tell him but the words wouldn't come out of my mouth.

" Charlotte, Why was he here?" He repeated his voice hard and Auguste rolled his eyes.

" Take it easy. She can't tell you." Auguste said setting his head on my shoulder and I shrugged it off.

" Why can't she tell me?" Drew asked his body shaking, his eyes blazing red.

" I told her not to." He said simply and Drew hissed his fangs showing.

" How dare you! If this prophecy wasn't fake I would ask you how you had the audacity to use your ability on your beloved. But I can see you really are a sick person and you use your mind control on her." Auguste took a deep breath to stay calm. I silently agreed with Drew I mean using his ability on me is awful. I may have used my ability on him but it wasn't controlling him to do something it was just stopping him from killing Drew.

" Everyone just needs to calm down." I hissed pushing Auguste away from me. I didn't like how my body warmed up to him every time he was close to me.

" I need a drink." Drew said after not succeeding to calm down. I hesitantly let him go." When I get back we're going to the council." Then he was gone. I jumped and went to my room through the hole in my wall. I grabbed a pair of blue skinny jeans from my dresser drawer and went into my closet changing into the jeans and a white long sleeved shirt along with a white scarf that had a brown design on it. Leaving my closet I seen Auguste sitting on my bed. Ignoring him I went to my dresser grabbing a long necklace from my jewelry and put it on under the scarf. I added a pair of earrings and clipped my hair into a bun. Auguste handed me a brown leather jacket and I have him a curious look.

" It's cold outside." He told me.

" But how did you know I had this." I asked slipping it on. I put on a pair of socks and a pair of knee high brown boots and grabbed a brown purse

" Every girl has a leather jacket." He said and I rolled my eyes.

" You look beautiful." He said to me just before Drew arrived. I looked to see he was now calm and his eyes were once again a chocolate brown color. He also changed his hair done up again and he now is wearing a pair of black trousers and a white buttoned up shirt.

"Well I guess we can go to the council now." Auguste said clapping his hands pulling my attention away from Drew.

~.~.~.~

We arrived at an old looking Castle; a castle I knew only the council lived in. Auguste pulled up to the gate and slipped his key card in the lock and then pressed his thumb to a pad that lite up green. He looked into another scanner and it scanned his eye. The gate finally opened and Drew raised an eyebrow.

" You really have to go through all of that just to enter."

" It's the council, what do you expect? " Auguste said rolling his eyes. When we got through the gates there was a woman waiting by the doors. She smiled her fangs flashing as we stepped out of the castle.

" Welcome." She greeted her eyes a gold color. A color only members of the council have except Auguste. His eyes were a blue color which I guess is because of him being part wolf." I'm Sydney. I am here upon Melissa's request. Our guess is that you have accepted our request to join the council." Her gold eyes snapped to Drew and she frowned.

" We didn't offer this request to your soulmate." She hissed and Drew stepped closer to me possessively.

" I will not join the council but I am here with a request." I said confidently and her black cape she had on blew slightly with wind along with her dark red hair and she narrowed her eyes.

" You know what will happen if you decline our request. We will have vampires there to kill your parents in seconds." Sydney hissed.

" Since you leave me no choice I will think it over once again but I want to see the book of prophecies." I demanded and Sydney let out a cold menacing laugh with a new sinister smile appearing on her face.

" Child I am apart of the council. You will not speak to me like that." She said her eyes slowly turning into a silver color. "But I guess I can take a moment of my time to show you to it." The doors opened for her automatically thanks to the guards and she walked in not even thanking them and we quickly followed in after her. I mumbled a thank you and we all used our vampire speed and in seconds we were in a different part of the castle. The doors opened again as we walked through a new room that was filled with thousands if not millions of books. Sydney mumbled a few words that were definitely not English and a huge book appeared in her hands. She set it on a table and turned to us,"This book will only tell you your own prophecy. All you have to do is set your hand on the book and it shall show you your prophecy." That's all she said before leaving the room not turning back.

" Ready?" I mumbled taking a quick glance at Drew and Auguste. Drew sighed and nodded," As ready as i'll ever be." I set my right hand on the brown book and it lite up and pages came out of the book and went all around the room making a circle around us. They moved in all different directions before they all went back into the book. The book was left open on one page and I held my breath nervous for what I was about to read. I looked down at the words and read it out loud,

" A Royal Pureblood vampire shall meet a Hybrid. This hybrid will be the first of its kind. But they are both meant -" I stared at the page. Where was the rest? Why was it ripped out?

" Why'd you stop?" Auguste asked curiously and I shook my head and started turning the blank pages looking for the other half.

" It's gone. The rest of the prophecy is missing." I said turning to look at them.

" What do you mean its missing?" Drew asked,

" It's ripped out, almost like someone did it on purpose." I said flipping through the pages again.

" You think someone stole it?" Auguste asked and I bit my lip not exactly sure what I was thinking.

" Who would steal a prophecy they couldn't see?" Drew asked and my eyes met his.

"Now that I don't know."

Chapter Twenty

" This is just great." I hissed pacing back and fourth in one of the guest rooms I was temporarily staying in for a few nights until my room was fixed.

" I'm sorry, princess." Rose said sincerely.

" It's not your fault." I told her.

" School starts in forty-five minutes." She told me and I nodded waving her off. She bowed before exiting and I cleared my head about the prophecy. I sighed before finishing off the blood in the cup. I quickly brushed my teeth and checked over my outfit. I was wearing a black and white striped skirt with a brown belt and a black tank top. I checked to make sure my necklace was still in place and put on my brown cork heeled shoes. Going downstairs I said goodbye to my parents before I grabbed my keys and got in my car. I arrived to school in a short amount of time and I was happy to see Jasmina and Ashlyn talking by the door. I shut off my car putting my keys in my purse.

" C!" Chloe yelled and I smiled giving her a small wave.

" Nope! I'm not letting you go with just a wave. Get your butt over here." She demanded and I rolled my eyes walking over to her. Her arms quickly went around me, giving me a hug.

" I haven't seen you since the party!" She exclaimed.

" Show up to school some time you slut." I joked and she smiled.

" I only ditched a day and what are you talking about you whore. I mean you left for a year with a guy you supposedly hate." She said and I gave her a guilty smile.

" Guilty as charged." I said before changing the subject." Where's Caleb?"

" He's hanging out with Jake and that whore." She said rolling her eyes as she looked over her fresh manicure.

" You mean Molly?" I asked and she shrugged.

" Yes, but I'm still pissed she was sleeping around with your boyfriend." Chloe said shaking her head.

" No need to hold a grudge. We're all seniors now so like you said lets have a fresh start." I said and she sighed.

" Old ways die hard." She told me and I shook my head.

" You don't have to change yourself for anyone Chlo. You weren't acting like a horrible stuck up bitch you were just a little harsh sometimes that's it." I said honestly and she shrugged while twirling her blonde hair. Chloe looked distracted for a moment looking at someone from a distance. I looked over where she was looking to see Drew and his friends walking towards the school doors. I haven't seen or talked to him since the council a few days ago.

Seeing him made me wish I didn't return to school because the sight before me made my heart clench. Although Drew and his friends were still the 'It' boys Drew was no longer smirking or acting arrogant his face was now blank of emotion, his eyes cold. I watch as Chloe looked over at him as he passed and tried to give him a smile. Not a flirty smile, a friendly smile. Drew didn't even spare her a glance. I wanted to cry at the feelings that were going through me. A part of me loved Drew more than anything. A part of me always will. He was my first love, my everything. His skin was as pale as ever now, it was about as pale as a vampires skin could get. His old smile was now replaced with a permanent looking frown. I felt like something was wrong. The spark I felt with Drew always felt so real. How could I believe a stranger so easily? Even though almost everything Auguste says matchs up something seems wrong .

I feel like i'm forgetting something. Like my brain refuses to let me remember one important detail. I know it was something about Auguste. But the question is, why can't I remember?

" C? Are you okay? You look heartbroken along with Drew. Did you two get in a fight?" Chloe asked me looking genuinely concern. I plastered a fake smile on my face and told her I was fine.

"Lottie!" Jasmina yelled rushing over to me and hugging me along with Ashlyn and Melanie.

" Guess what!" Jasmina squealed and I raised an eyebrow. "I got asked out on a date! " My eyes widen and I smiled excited for her.

" That's great!" I said hugging her again. I suddenly pulled back and looked at her curiously," Who asked you out?"

" You remember Drews friend that we shared a room with when we went camping?" She asked me and I nodded slowly not liking the soundproof of this." Well he asked me out. Jason is so sweet and perfect." She gushed and my smile dropped.

" You can't date Jason! He's a -" I stopped myself wincing when I realize what I was about to say.

" He's a . . ." Jasmina trailed off her eyebrows furrowing.

" Douche." I lied. I haven't really talked to Jason that much but I knew she couldn't date him. He was a vampire she was a human.

" You and I, both know that's not true." Jasmina said frowning slightly.

"Hey i'll just catch up with you guys later." I mumbled and they nodded.

" See yea later C." Chloe said and we did the whole kiss kiss thing on the cheeks before she walked off joining April. Not bothering to hide her distaste for my other friends.

" Bye Lottie. We should all meet up at Jas' place to help her get ready for her date. We can catch up." Mel suggested and I nodded my head agreeing. I needed a break from drama and just needed a girls night.

" I'll catch up with you guys later." I told them before rushing off trying to find Drew's group. I looked around going through the hallways, my eyes narrowed when I seen them all talking at one of their lockers. I marched down there and slammed the locker closed making them look at me. Drew didn't say anything and only stared at me with a heart wrenching look.

" Why did you ask Jasmina out?" I hissed standing right in front of Jason. He only smirked and leaned back against one of the lockers." I won't ask you twice." I said my hands clenching " Because she's cute." He shrugged and I looked around to see quite a few curious eyes on her and the schools 'It' boys. I grabbed Jason's arm and pulled him towards the restrooms. I didn't have to look behind me to know Alexith, Keith and Drew were following us. I opened the girls restroom and seen a few girls in there fixing up there makeup and hair before class started. They looked over to see who entered the girls bathroom and their eyes widened at the sight of the 'It' boys.

" Out." I said as calm as possible. The girls scoffed going back to their makeup." I said Out." I hissed ominously and fear flashed through the girls eyes and they quickly packed up their stuff and rushed out.

" I want to know why you asked Jasmina out and I want the real answer." I said looking straight at Jason once the bathroom was empty. I used one of my abilities and locked the door not even having to look at it.

" Why is this such a big deal?" He asked me running his hands down his face.

" Because she shouldn't be getting mixed up with our world!" I all but yelled.

" You already brought her into our world by being her friend." He yelled throwing his hands up irritated.

" No, I didn't." I said quietly my eyes looking at Jason's now red eyes. " I've been living like a human longer than any of you."

" I don't actually feel anything towards her." Jason suddenly said and my eyes narrowed into slits again.

" Then why are you bringing her on a date?" I hissed trying to keep my clenched fists at my side.

" She's pure. A pure human has the best blood." He shrugged and my fangs grew and I knew my eyes turned a dark sliver instead of there usual brown. I didn't have a spell on me anymore. Nothing was stopping me or holding me back. I am a vampire. A Royal Pureblood vampire.

" Wrong answer." I hissed pushing him against the wall with my ability. " You know I thought you were pretty cool when I first met you but obviously I was wrong."

" I thought the same thing about you Princess." He said in a mocking tone." I didn't think it was possible to forget about your soulmate so fast but you obviously proved everyone wrong."

" What are you talking about?" I demanded." What does soul mates have to do with Jasmina?"

"Since you are irritably stronger I can't kill you but I will kill your friend. I will suck her dry." He said his fangs gleaming. I threw him down on the floor my body shaking. I was livid, not only did he threaten my BestFriend who I cared deeply for. He also brought Drew into this. I knew something was up when Jasmina told me about that date. Vampires don't usually associate with humans unless they want a snack or unless they are soul mates but the latter is rare. I didn't turn around to look at the others, I couldn't. If I turned around and face him I may snap and attack him. But not in a crazy bitch way. No, in a kiss his face off type of way.

" Jason." An all so familiar voice said sternly. " I'd watch what you say."

" I'm sorry Drew but this girl needs to get off her high horse and realize she is hurting others by this stupid game she is playing."

" What is even going on?" Keith asked.

Important Authors Note at the end with lots of information

" I only came here to find out why Jason is taking my friend on a date but I see he obviously has other issues with me that he wants to take out on me" I said softly letting myself calm down.

" Oh don't act all innocent now that Drew talked." Jason hissed.

" You don't even know how I feel in this situation. How would you feel now knowing who your soul mate is!" I yelled. I felt something drop from my eye surprising everyone in the room. Using my finger I wiped up my eye and looked at my finger to see a dark metallic liquid that can only be described as blood.

" Impossible." Keith whispered. " A vampire crying? It has never been seen before." The loud shrilling bell rung signaling the start of the first block but no one moved.

" I won't touch Jasmina tonight it's long as you stop messing with Drew's feelings." Jason said after a minute of silence.

" I'm not trying to. I love Drew. I don't even know how I feel about Auguste. I don't love him. Hell I don't even like him. But my body is telling me to always be with him.You want to know something, I can't even remember how I met him."

" What?" Drew's deep voice says sounding confused.

" You seriously don't remember?"

" No, part of me knows but it's like my mind refuses to remember." I said truthfully finally turning to look at him.

" His ability is mind control. This is all starting to make since now." Drew said.

" What?" I asked now confused.

" Auguste is using his mind control on you."

Chapter Twenty-One

"What?" I asked confused.

" That's impossible. And he wouldn't do that to me." I say not wanting to believe it.

" Charlie, baby, he is apart of the council. It's not very surprising." Flashes of meeting him at the park came rushing to me, him giving me a letter.

" He gave me a letter that night." I told them holding my hand to my head. As the memories of that night continue to enter my head." I don't know where I put that letter."

" We'll have to go find it then." Keith said and I nodded.

"We'll go now."

Using my speed I exited the bathroom and the school. I knew no one would be able to see me so I wasn't worried. Drew, Jason, Keith and Alexith all appeared next to me a second later. Minutes later we all arrived back to my place with our cars.

"Princess, did you forget something?" Rose asked me quickly rushing over to take my black coat.

" No, but Rose when you recently cleaned my room did you find a letter by any chance?" I asked her and she thought for a moment before shaking her head.

" No, I'm sorry princess." She said apologetically.

" Where are my parents?" I asked.

" They're at a meeting." Rose said and I nodded, " You're dismissed." When we entered my room and I quickly demanded the construction workers to leave.

" Well it shouldn't be very hard to find one letter in a room that's the size of my castle." Jason said sarcastically and I glared at him.

- -

We searched the room continuously for hours and couldn't find the letter anywhere in here. I was currently sitting on the edge of my window seat with Drew next to me.

" Why can't things just go back to how they were?" I asked Drew sadly, leaning my head against his shoulder.

" Where you had to hide yourself and I thought you were human?" Drew asked looking down at me.

" Maybe not that far. But where we were in France living an almost happy life. All we would have to do is move our family and our people to France and life could be perfect for the rest of eternity." I say watching as the guys still continued to search. I told them they didn't have to look but they insisted saying they have to help us.

" We can't take our people from their life here. It wouldn't be fair." Drew said grabbing my hand.

" I know, I know." I grumbled turning to look at him. My eyes caught something sliver in the wall next to him. " Drew watch out." He looked confused and moved. I pressed my finger to the silver on the wall and I narrowed my eyes before punching my hand through the wall.

" Charlie?" Drew questioned. Everyone was standing close by watching with curiosity. I stuck my hand in through the hole and moved my hand around inside. When my hand caught on something with a papery feeling. I turned my head and looked at the guys. Pulling out what my hand caught onto it was a white envelope with a silver sticker on it where the envelope closed.

" Is that it?"Alexith asked and I nodded my head slowly when memories of Auguste handing me this letter that night.

" Well open it!" Jason hissed impatiently and we all sent him a glare making him shut up. I peeled off the silver sticker and took a deep breath opening it. I gasped when I took out everything in it. I looked at one old ancient piece of paper more specifically.

" Is that the rest of the prophecy?"

" It can't be." I say not believing what was in my hands. Seeing there was also I letter I opened it slowly.

Charlotte,

You have two options,

Join the council or be killed along with your soulmate and family. I'll give you some time to think about this. But Miss Faye I don't like to wait. For some reason King Alexander wanted you to have your prophecy. I don't know why but he is the only one beside you that can see what it says and feels it is important that you read this. Auguste will see you soon to find out what you have decided.

Sincerely,

Melissa

"King Alexander?" Drew said surprised.

"Why would the King of all vampires want me to look at my prophecy?" I asked and they shrugged. I should probably explain a little more about who is who. André Bellemare is the first vampire to ever exist in the world and was once king before he died. André made a council and assigned a King of all vampires that King being Alexander. But for each place there is a king and queen (like mine and Drew's parents) under Alexander since he doesn't have a queen yet to help him rule.

" This list gets longer and longer for things we have to find out." Drew said and I nodded in agreement. I looked intently at Drew and let a small smile take on my lips. I always loved Drew's accent he has but he always has to put up a fake American accent so he doesn't sound so formal and I guess you can say so he doesn't seem like he's from the twentieth century. Part of me wishes we lived a normal life but at this rate I don't think that's going to happen anytime soon.

Chapter Twenty-Two

I watched as soulmate paced back an fourth stressed. I clenched my fists I was completely furious that Auguste would do this. How dare he!Compelling Charlie like she's some dog.

"What exactly is he trying to accomplish? " Alexith wondered out loud.

" Isn't it obvious?" Jason snorted."She's one of the strongest vampires in the world. If she didn't have you Drew I would be all over that." My eyes narrowed at my friend.

" Excuse me?"

" Sorry man but it's so obvious he's going to try to take over and the only way he can truly do that is by having her at his side. He's a hybrid and she's a Pureblood vampire. Those two could take down the king if they wanted to."

" Stop talking about me like I'm not here." Charlotte hissed.

" Do you think it's all a lie then? If they don't end up together then the world won't be a disaster." Alexith asked curiously.

" Well if the dumb bitch doesn't open the real prophecy we'll never know." Jason said and Charlie grabbed him holding him up by his neck.

" If you open your damn mouth again I will make sure you won't make it till tomorrow." She hissed bearing her fangs before throwing him across the room against the wall.

" You all want me to open it so bad then. I will!" She yelled graving the envelope and taking out the ancient paper again.

" In the future there shall be a pureblood vampire walking on our earth again. She shall be young and beautiful and will one day be the strongest vampire to live. She will face challenges in her life and she will make the world something it's never been before." I stared at Charlie surprised when she didn't continue.

" This is my actual prophecy and it was only what? Three sentences. I thought it would be a paragraph or something and I thought it would at least tell me something about you or Auguste." She said clenching her hands in her hair after throwing the prophecy on the ground.When it touched the ground it burned up into flame.

" No what's going on?" She asked grabbing a water bottle and pouring it on the paper. But the fire wasn't even effected.

"No no no." She continued to mutter trying to put it out with a shirt. Seconds later all that was left was ashes formed in the shape of the letters A and B.

" André Bellemare." Alexith said looking at the ashes and the burnt carpet." Rumor has it when you read your prophecy once it immediately burns up leaving his initials in its place."

" What if she was holding that!" I glared at the letters waiting for his response.

" It would burn in her hands possibly catching her on fire with it."

" I don't even understand what the stupid thing said!" She said sitting on the still in front of her bed." I mean for all I know I am going to turn this world into an awful place full of destruction!" She said and I walked over to her and picked her up and set her body on my lap. " I don't think you can turn this world into anything but a wonderful place. " I told her tucking part of her hair behind her right ear.

" You have nothing to worry about. It said you would face challenges and right now you are facing it. Auguste is just a hybrid and the prophecy itself said you would one day be the strongest vampire to walk on this earth. This prophecy was written before you were born! It was written when André Bellemare was alive! He has been dead for hundreds of years and he was the first vampire! "

" Alexander must know something! He is the oldest vampire alive right now and he obviously had a reason for wanting you to read this." Jason told her pushing himself off the wall he was leaning against. " Why don't we go talk to him?" He suggested and I glared at him.

" No we will figure this out ourselves. Alexander is vicious and he won't hesitate to snap our necks and burn us if we even come a radius of 500 feet from him." I hissed and Charlotte bit her lip listening to our conversation.

" If we don't talk to him we will never know what this damn prophecy meant." Jason hissed.

" I'd rather not know what it meant then having us all dead trying to find out." I said holding Charlie closer to me.

" I've met Alexander once before." My soulmate whispered. All eyes snapped to her, including mine." This isn't an argument. Drew is right we don't want to mess with him."

~ Charlotte's POV ~

I stared blankly at the floor not showing any emotion. I kept my voice monotonous and talked before they even had time to question me.

" I'm sure you're all curious about how I met him and what happened. It's simple really. I just had a quick encounter with him. I swore to myself I would never meet with someone as heartless as him.

The look he gave me was an empty, cold look. He made me feel as if I was reliving my death as a human." I said partly lying.

Yes, at one point even vampires are human whether they were turned or were born by a vampire. I was only a human for seventeen years but I remember my death perfectly. I was stabbed fifteen times in an ally before I was thrown into a chest. I felt the chest being thrown into a body of water and after the water surrounded me I blacked out. You may wonder how I'm here now well it's simply because I was born by two vampires. When I died I would be a vampire so when I woke up the next morning underwater in a chest I was furious.

I easily got out of the chest since I am a Royal pureblood but I won't lie and say my first meal was some pesky human or some animal. No, I waited to eat. I waited until I found the man that killed me for no reason. Maybe he was simply angry and need something to take his anger out on but I would never know because I watched the life leave his body. I sucked every drop of blood from him and watched as his lifeless body dropped to the concrete.

I didn't return to my parents right away. I roamed the earth for one hundred years. During that time I crossed paths with the one and only Mr. Alexander Windsord. I didn't lie when I said I felt as if I was reliving my death as human. Alexander can do that to someone just by looking them in the eye, but I didn't think he was a monster like many said. I've stayed with him and talked to him.We spent over two hundred years together. At one point I was almost his queen. You would think we would want to wait for our beloveds, our soulmates but during those years no one waited. If you loved someone else then you found no reason to wait.

But after finding out I was a rare vampire he never wanted me to leave his castle. I've never seen someone so menacing as him before. He wanted to keep me a secret from the outside world. He knew if the council found out he would have no choice but to kill me. He was the king after all it was his job and there wasn't any exceptions.

"Charlie?" Drew said and my eyes snapped up to him. " Are you okay? You zoned out for a while." I nodded my head and looked around the empty room."Everyone left a little while ago."

" Sorry I'm just really tired. I need some rest." I tell him standing up.

"I'll talk to you tomorrow."

"Okay, goodbye Charlie. I love you." He pecks my lips before hesitantly leaving me. I turn off my lights and lay on my bed looking into the darkness of my room with my hands under my head. I once again let my thoughts drift off to Eventually someone did find out though. Alexander's parents found out. He wouldn't make an exception for them. He had to make sure no one knew even if it involved death, I was his secret, his secret he eventually had to let go. The love that was between us started to diminished as time went by all because of this secret. But before we went our separate ways we vowed to never meet and to never to have contact again. Our love would be the cause of the earths destruction.

Chapter Twenty-Three

~Charlotte's POV~

I paced back and fourth in my room nervously. This can't be happening. Why would he come here of all places? I mean he's the king I would expect him to visit the council but the last thing I would expect is him to come here.

" Charlie."A voice said hesitantly knocking on the other side of my door.

" What?" I hissed opening my door glaring at Drew. I took a deep breath not wanting to take my anger out on him.

" We can leave for a while. You don't have to face Alexander." Drew said and I narrowed my eyes.

" He's obviously coming here for me. Melissa must have told him I have received my prophecy." I said grabbing one of my pictures I had painted of me in Italy three hundreds years ago and throwing it across the room. Drew used his speed and quickly caught it.

" You'd regret breaking this." He said setting it on my bed. I rolled my eyes and sat down on a blue chair.

" Do you honestly think I care about a painting right now? Alexander could arrive any minute now and I'm sure the first person he will want to talk to is me." I said covering my face with my hands.

" I have a feeling your meeting with Alexander was more then a quick encounter." Drew said frowning." I won't question you on what really happened, but I will say that you can't run from him Charlie he's the king."

"Princess." Rose interrupted knocking on my door. She handed me a letter before curtsying and walking away. Opening up the envelope with a gold sticker on it I took out the letter letting my eyes skim over it.

" This is just perfect. Guess who's having dinner with the one and only Mr. Windsord himself." I say throwing the letter and envelope on the ground.

" I can come with you if you'd like." Drew offered and I shook my head. "Dinner is in an hour I will go by myself. I'll call you after." I say grabbing a random evening dress from the closet. I gave him a peck on the lips before going to the bathroom. After taking a shower I put on a beautiful long red dress that went down to my feet and a pair of black heels. I blow dried my hair and put it into a nice bun before exiting to my room. I was relieved to see Drew gone the one thing I needed right now is to be alone. I grabbed my black leather jacket and my car keys before using my vampire speed to go to my car. I had about five minutes to get there.

When I arrived at the fancy restaurant I sighed not wanting to go in. I decided to walk slowly to the doors. I didn't know how this would go. Last time we seen each other we were madly in love. But seeing him may spark some old flames. Alexander was my chosen beloved, yet Drew was my actual soulmate since birth.

" Do you have a reservation?" The waitress asked and I nodded curtly.

" Yes, for Mr. Alexander Windsord." She smiled brightly." Right this way please." She led the way and I could feel my heart beating faster and faster as we got closer. My breath caught in my throat as I took in the breathtaking figure. He looked as handsome as ever in a nice tux. He must have heard my gasp because his blue eyes snapped up to my brown ones. He stood up nodding at the waitress to leave. He pulled out the chair across from where he was sitting.

"Charlotte, it's a pleasure to be able to see you again. How long has it been again?" His silky voice said.

"Almost 200 years." I responded sitting down. He took his own seat and nodded.

" I thought we agreed to never meet again." I said before avoiding eye contact.

"Well it seems as it was impossible to avoid an encounter with the current situation." He said and I let my eyes skim over his pale face. " You look lovely tonight."

" Thank you. I can see you decided to shave for once." I said letting a smirk appear on my face. He let out a small chuckle.

" Of course I can't have stubble when I'm going out for dinner with a lovely royal pureblood vampire." He said causing us both to laugh.

" That didn't seem to stop you in the past." I say and he shrugged not denying anything.

" I guess we should face the real reason why were here." He said taking sip of his wine. Making me scrunch up my nose in disgust.

" Oh don't act like human food and drinks are disgusting. It isn't that bad. You just need to widen your intake of things other then blood." He said rolling his eyes. Noticing the glass of red wine also in front of me I decided to take a sip. The cool liquid felt strange against my throat but I didn't deny the fact that he was right. A minute later the waitress came back taking our order before leaving again.

" So the world knows now." Alexander said changing the subject of the conversation and I nodded my head slowly. " Well Char as you know I'm expected to do something about this whole thing.

I'm not suppose to let this go. I mean the council will think I'm favoring you because of our history. "

"Alexander no one even knows about our history." I said with narrowed eyes.

"That is indeed true." He said rubbing his chin."What would you like me to do then?"

" Just announce you will let this all pass since I haven't done any harm." I suggested and he though about it for a moment and nodded his head slowly.

" I guess I could do that but you must understand based on your prophecy I will have to keep an eye on you. " My jaw dropped at this, he had to be kidding me," Not me personally just a few guards that you won't even notice."

" I could deal with that." I nodded taking a sip of my wine." Can you explain my prophecy to me? You're the only one that can."

" It's pretty self explanatory." He started, pausing when the waitress came back.

" Are you two ready to order?"

" Two steaks with baked potatoes and that's all. I want the steaks medium well. That will be all miss." He ordered waving his hand for her to go away. She scribbled it all down and walked off in a rush.

" Depending on the choices you make you will either cause destruction to the earth or you will will make it a better place."

" How will I know if I'm making the right choices?"

" You'll know." He said almost ominously.

" So does this mean I'm free to live my life how I want to?" I asked trying to hold in my excitement. the thought of not having to hide excited me to no end. I could be known as Charlotte Faye the royal pureblood vampire. Maybe in couple of years I could even finally take over my parents kingdom.

" Yes Charlotte, I'm happy to announce you are free to be you, you are free to live your life however you want, but most of all you're free." I couldn't control the emotions that flooded through me, nor could I control the impossible. Drops of water slid down my cheeks, no, not blood this time it was actual tears that would only fall out of humans eyes.

" Thank you, Alexander. Thank you so damn much."

Epilogue

3 years later

I glanced one more time in the mirror, looking over my figure. I was wearing a long blood red dress with black lace. It was something you'd wear in the nineteen hundreds, but a dress like this was tradition when becoming queen. Earlier they even had to lower the skirt down over my head and over the corset turning it into a dress.

My brown hair was in a bun that had perfect curls falling out of it. My lips were a bright red along with my nails. I looked like a perfect vampire with my flawless skin and my perfect attire. I let out a sigh, here I go, I thought before I cleared my throat and the doors opened. The conversations immediately stopped and every head turned towards the doors waiting for me to step onto the trail of red and black rose petals.

I took my first step out and walked down the aisle confidently, keeping my head held high. While Vampires stared intently at me as they stand up from their seats. Vampires would soon look at me for guidance since I was about to be the queen of this kingdom.

I kept my eyes on my parents as they sat in their thrown looking at me proudly. When I was on the platform everyone took their seats while my dad stood up and walked over to me.

I didn't really pay attention to everything he was saying about giving the thrown to me, but what caught my attention was his final words ten minutes later.

" I am proud to announce the new queen on Maplewood, Charlotte Rose Faye." He got down on one knee along its everyone else when the crown was placed delicately on my head. It officially hit me that I was now the queen. Every single vampire in this room would look up at me for guidance and support.

Keeping my face serious, I glanced at the only one who didn't have to kneel. Alexander gave me a charming smile and sending me a wink. I rolled my eyes and shook my head, a small smile tugging at my lips. I walked down the rose petal path, happy that it went fast. I nodded at the few vampires that waved before exiting the room. I let out a breath I didn't know I was holding and waited outside the door for Alexander. Vampires smiled at me as they made their way to the dining room.

" Queen Charlotte. " Alexander tasted the words on his tongue and cringed, shaking his head." I think Queen Char will sound better." He said and I thought about it for a minute and nodded.

"I'll have to get use to the whole queen thing." I told him and he stuck out his elbow, signaling for me to grab, my hand held onto it as he escorted me to the dining room.

"It shouldn't take to long I mean you've been treated like a queen for quite some time." He said flashing me another charming smirk.

" You know you could've been a queen two-hundred years ago." He says and I sigh shaking my head.

" And then I would have eventually met Drew and everything would have went downhill from there." I say and he gave me a sad smile.

"Yes, I suppose you're right. Have you two decided what you're going to do with your kingdoms when he becomes king?" He asked me just as we entered the room.

"Congratulations your majesty."A guy says as I pass him, bowing a little. I smile at him and tell him thank you before making my way over to the balcony. I needed a moment to breath before people start to surround me.

" No, I think I may rule by myself for a while." I say honestly after shutting the balcony doors behind us. I wanted to be independent, i've only waited years to be queen.

"Interesting." Alexander says looking at me with a twinkle in his eyes.

"Congratulations Char. Enjoy being a queen. I'm sorry I must go, but it was a pleasure to see you again. Hopefully I'll see you again soon." His cold lips pressed onto the back of my hand and I felt a small tingling sensation. "You aren't married yet so hopefully Drew won't mind to much if I do this." Before I could question anything Alexander placed his lips on mine.

I loved the sensation it brought but my stomach tighten as guilt ate at my stomach, yelling at me to stop this. My lips moved passionately with his while his hand gripped my waist tightly almost as if he was afraid i'd disappear forever. His lips went across my jaw and moved so the way down to the crook of my neck. I felt him pull away a few centimeters breathing heavily.

" If only I would have made you mine centuries ago." He whisper before flying away from me. He was suddenly standing in front of the large doors with his back to me." You should know my guards have found Auguste and he should be no longer be a problem. I will take care of him and give him his well deserved punishment. If Drew is concern about what just happened between us then tell him to find the King. Farewell Charlotte." He was gone in less than a second. My eyes didn't leave the spot where Alexander was once standing.

He kissed me and left. I felt as if that would be the last time i'd see him again. I couldn't stop the feeling of sadness that filled my heart. I could only hope he would find his own soulmate one day.

" Your majesty, Drew is looking for you." Rose said standing where Alexander was.

" I'll be in a minute." I told her solemnly and she nodded before curtsying and leaving. I was glad that they finally found Auguste and he would most likely get a punishment of death for messing with my mind and emotions. It may seem stupid for him to get a punishment that big but in the vampire world they take this seriously especially when you have an ability like his.

Letting out a sigh I plastered a fake smile on my face and headed inside to enjoy the celebration.

---

6 years later

I smiled lovingly at my husband who laid next me sleeping silently with his arm wrapped around my waist. Drew and I, got married a few years after my coronation and ended up combining our kingdoms. I haven't seen Alexander since that day. But I did hear a rumor a while ago that he was searching for his own beloved. I was happy for him he needs someone who won't fear him. Someone who will love him unconditionally.

" Good morning." Drew's husky, morning voice filled that air making me smile, pecking him on the lips."Good morning handsome."

In that moment I knew everything would be okay. I didn't know what the future had in store for me or if I would make the world a better place. But I knew no matter what happens everything will eventually be okay as long as I just keep going and let life continue to take me on it's roller coaster.

The End